1,500 Hear Dr. King End Memorial

By JANE FODERARO
RED BANK — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Sr. told his 1,500 listeners: "Fasten your seat belts. There's going to be turbulence along the way. Now, remember, I love you. . . ." He then plunged into his sermon which, at the end, brought a standing ovation.

The father of the slain human rights leader last night preached at an interfaith service in the First Presbyterian Church; the large, hill-top church was filled beyond capacity.

The elder Dr. King's appearance in Red Bank climaxed a four-day community-wide birthday tribute to his son, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. . . .

In his sermon, he said, "This is a beautiful session. It's a little more than token. I get to go all over the country, and most of what I see is token. But this tonight warms my heart."

"I love everyone of you," he continued, "and I hope you love me."

Has No Fear
"You might want to debate whether or not you're my brother. But I've got a job to do and I'm going on being your brother," said Dr. King Sr. "I'm serious. I have no fear . . . and, in this, I'm ahead of you, I expect. I'm not messed up with denomination. I'm not messed up with color . . ."

The theme of Dr. King's sermon was "Disturbed about America." He spoke of love. He also spoke of hate—and, at that point, warned of "turbulence ahead."

"Any nation that will not repent will never get better," he said. "In every town and every city I know anything about, we're sitting on a powder keg . . . of hate."

"America has been—and still holds to it—America is still too damned white. It's rough, isn't it? But every where I turn, I lead where the whites live, where they worship . . . It's foolishness."

"There has been so much white supremacy for so long," he continued, "that the blacks decided to get blacker than the whites. They say they don't want white teachers . . . That bothers me. That's back to segregation. And I ain't goin'!"

Churches Criticized
Dr. King also criticized the churches of America. "There's the Baptist, there's the Methodist, there's the Catholic. There's so many, it isn't worth talking about."

"The fact is, it's God's church," he shouted. "The church is slow to change," he said. "That disturbs me. And the church is slow to forgive. That disturbs me." (He said that, if the formula for penicillin were carried to the church, "it would still be on the table right now.")

Dr. King made but one reference to his son, and then in the context of the series of assassinations that took the lives of President John F. Kennedy, Malcolm X and Sen. Robert Kennedy.

"We don't like John F. Kennedy, so we kill him. That's America. We don't like Malcolm X, so we kill him. Then there was a genius. All he did was go up and down the world preaching love and peace. It was Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. So we kill him. That's America. And there was Robert Kennedy—he was coming off in. We don't like him, so we kill him.

"Do not ask 'who' did that. But ask what did that," commanded the senior Dr. King. "There were many fingers on that trigger. They were the fingers of hate."

"Are you asking 'who'? I'm asking 'what?'" he repeated. "They can't kill Kennedy," he said. "They can't kill Martin Luther King Jr.," he said. "They're going on."

"America, why don't you repent? Put your trust in God." Response to the sermon and Dr. King personally was spontaneous and, as he later commented, "filled with warmth."

A number of area clergymen participated in last night's interfaith service. The Rev. James R. Steele, pastor of the Shrewsbury Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Emmett A. Monahan, pastor of St. James Catholic Church, Red Bank, read the Scripture; the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Webster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, here, welcomed the congregation; the Rev. Dr. Marcus A. Pierce, pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church of Red Bank, introduced Dr. King; the Rev. Leonard Rowell of the First United Methodist Church of Red Bank, led a silent prayer in memoriam; and the Rabbi Jack M. Rosoff of Congregation B'nai Israel, Rumson, gave the benediction. Edmund H. Gaunt, co-chairman of the King Memorial Weekend of 1971, also welcomed participants in the service.

Ended Observance
The interfaith service culminated a four-day observance of the birthday (Jan. 15) of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the Red Bank area.

Yesterday afternoon, hundreds of area residents turned out in subfreezing weather to participate in a "memorial sing" in Marine Park here. While an ice boat regatta was in progress on the ice of the Navesink River, singers of both school and church choral organizations, along with their audience, sang such selections as "He's Got The Whole Wide World In His Hands" and "Let There Be Peace On Earth" under the direction of Paul Grammer, head of the Shrewsbury Chorale.

Speaking briefly in the park, the Rev. Isaac Rottenberg, theologian and civil rights leader, formerly of Monmouth County, admonished white people not to "sentimentalize Dr. King."

"He lovingly channeled anger," said Rev. Mr. Rottenberg. "When I spoke here in Marine Park, after Dr. King was assassinated, I said that it was time we all became angry. Some of my fellow clergymen criticized me for that. Today, I still say we should know anger in the face of injustice." Rev. Mr. Rottenberg spoke in the park in April 1968 during a community memorial service for the slain civil rights leader.

Mayor on Scene
Standing on the hillside yesterday and singing with other area residents was Red Bank's Mayor Daniel J. O'Hern, wearing a red woolen cap. "Only in Red Bank," he said. "This could only happen in Red Bank."

Other weekend events included a "community gathering" held Saturday night in St. James auditorium here.

The Rev. Walter Faltray, civil rights leader and Democratic Congressional candidate in Washington, D.C., was scheduled to speak, but—because of poor health—was unable to appear. In his place, the principal speaker was Frank Robinson, who is associated with the Monmouth Community Action Program and Brookdale Community College.

"One of the greatest effects Dr. King had on our lives," he said, "was that he destroyed a psychological fear. We were afraid to deal with problems . . ."

Mr. Robinson asked his audience — approximately 300 persons — to stand up and find people they did not know, then to sit down with them. "I hope you understand what you just did," he said. "It was something you should have been doing for years."

"We've made the first step toward human development," he continued. "But we can no longer live with the illusion that everything is going to be OK."

"The reality is that there are whites with arms and

Legal Services Could Be Centered in Ocean County

By DORIS KULMAN
NEW YORK — The proposed merger of the Monmouth Legal Services Organization and the smaller Ocean County Legal Services Corp., two agencies federally funded to provide legal aid to the poor, would centralize the program in Toms River and force the closing of two legal services offices in Monmouth County.

The merger would close the MLSO offices in Red Bank and Freehold and leave Monmouth County without a legal services office north of Long Branch or west of the Atlantic Ocean.

Disclosed at Hearing
This was disclosed here Friday during a 4½ hour informal hearing before Ronald Dietrich, acting deputy director of the National Legal Services program in Washington, which wants the merger.

The MLSO, which contends the merger would destroy an effective legal services program in the county, requested the hearing. The Ocean County agency, which isn't opposing the merger, wasn't asked to attend, an NLS official said.

Mr. Dietrich said later that he doesn't know when he will reach a decision on the merger.

MLSO's funding runs out on Feb. 28.

The NLS contends the merged program would be more economical and effective.

In an undated letter to MLSO and the Monmouth Community Action Program, the county's official antipoverty agency which also opposes the merger, Mr. Dietrich said the NLS had made "an extensive evaluation" of the MLSO and has concluded it isn't trying hard enough to accomplish the national goals of the legal services program.

First Explanation
MLSO officials said Mr. Dietrich's letter was received late last month and was the first explanation they got of the merger which the NLS had originally scheduled for Jan. 1.

They weren't given any information about the evaluation either until late last month, MLSO officials said. The evaluation hasn't been made public.

Laurence C. Starnelman, a Long Branch attorney who heads the MLSO board, said the evaluation contains conclusions based on factual errors. He also charged it shows evidence of prejudgment and suggested the NLS "look into that."

The evaluation was made by Auerbach Associates, a Philadelphia firm under contract to the federal Office of Economic Opportunity which funds the NLS.

Under the merger, the area now served by the Red Bank MLSO office would be served by the Asbury Park office.

The area now served by the Freehold office would be served by the new main office in Toms River.

Cites Report
Chester Apy, a Red Bank attorney and MLSO trustee, said that instead of reducing the number of MLSO offices in Monmouth County, the Auerbach report had recommended the opening of a fifth office, in the Bayshore, and a larger MLSO staff.

MLSO previously had requested money to open a Bayshore office but was turned down by the NLS, Mr. Apy said.

MCAP officials, pointing out that under the merger there wouldn't be a legal services office north of Long Branch, (See May page 2) quired emergency appropriations and were added to this year's rate.

He said there was also a depletion of $285,000 in surplus reserves to offset the 1970 budget increases. Reserve funds, he said, were reduced to $32,000 last year.

Another obstacle cited by Mayor-Cioffi was a reduction of tax collections by about one noted, however, that the figures are "budget figures" for that document's guidelines. He said that salary negotiations are still being discussed with employees.

Mayor Henry R. Cioffi cited "several major obstacles" which had to be hurdled to arrive at the new budget figure.

He charged that the former administration had underbudgeted $77,915, which re-

If adopted by City Council, the total would amount to $4,866,705. The amount to be raised by taxes for municipal purposes totals $1,908,000, up $27,000 over last year's figure.

The lowering of the local purpose tax rate, according to Mr. Mazza, was aided by the city's ratables jumping about $7 million to a new total of $139 million.

The new city-use tax rate would be $1.358 per $100 of property value, down 4.7 cents. That figure does not include the upcoming city school budget tax figure or the county tax rate.

The mayor's message attached to the budget noted that its objective was to maintain a stable tax rate while expanding and improving services and upping "below normal" salaries of municipal employees. "Particularly," he said, "in the Police Department."

Mr. Mazza pointed out yesterday that all city workers will receive a 7½ per cent pay hike. Police salaries, he said, will be up about 10.7 per cent when the costs of additional fringe benefits are calculated.

Luigi's Tavern, Asbury Ave. and Shafto Road, here, was held up at 11:47 last night, the chief added. Owner Louis D. Menditto and a customer, Armond Striend, of Farmingdale, were assaulted and robbed. The chief said more than $200 was taken.

Chief Herring said the gang operated in groups of about five, not necessarily the same men all the time.

Other incidents yesterday, allegedly took place in Howell and Wall Townships.

A county alert was issued and Eatontown Patrolman William Barnshaw, assisted by other Eatontown policemen, apprehended five of the suspects. Chief Herring had high praise for the work of Patrolman Barnshaw.

New Shrewsbury Detective William Seuffert, assisted by County Detectives John Manigrasso and Charles O'Connor, made the other arrests.

Hook Inlet Proposal Seen Wrong, Alternates Advised

By NANCY J. KUBINSKI
SANDY HOOK — Calling it the "wrong project, in the wrong place, at the wrong time, for the wrong reasons," The American Littoral Society yesterday declared its opposition to the proposed Sandy Hook inlet.

After a seven-month review of the U.S. Corps of Engineers' report on the inlet, the society "instead offered six other, 'more worthwhile projects' that could be undertaken by the federal government in this area to protect the environment and the public."

Society president Derrick W. Bennett, in a statement on the inlet's impact, maintained that it will damage the environment of Sandy Hook Bay, and the Navesink and Shrewsbury Rivers and will provide no apparent benefits.

"The inlet poses a real threat to the soft clam population of the rivers," Mr. Bennett proclaimed. Potential production of soft clams in the system is about $100,000 a year.

Threat Is Seen
"This production is threatened by the new inlet which will affect flushing times in the rivers and thereby threaten clam larvae sets."

The society also maintained that the inlet would increase boat traffic, increasing pollution through oil and gas spills, littering, boat sewage, noise, exhaust and overcrowding.

"The new inlet will accelerate the bulkheading and subsequent ecological damage of the Navesink and Shrewsbury Rivers for real estate development," Mr. Bennett stated.

Finally the report stated, "The inlet will decrease waterfowl habitat by damaging feeding grounds for scaup and brant, two species which use the shallow water of Sandy Hook Bay near the west end of the proposed inlet."

Mr. Bennett, in commenting on the Corps of Engineers' statement that the inlet would provide "quick access to a safe harbor," said the inlet would instead provide easy access to the ocean for small boats and in time of storm "it will provide an exceedingly dangerous return passage to the Shrewsbury River, more dangerous than the longer trip through less restricted waters around Sandy Hook."

Further, he added, the project will not improve water quality, noting that the surrounding land draining into the two rivers are being sewered, but that the secondary discharge into the ocean from new sewer outfalls off Highlands and Monmouth Beach will increase ocean pollution near the inlet entrance and "any flushing promoted by the new inlet will bring polluted ocean water into rivers that are being cleaned up."

With regard to the shortened boat trip caused by the inlet, Mr. Bennett stated that the project will however, not encourage commercial fishermen to return to fishing — "only better fishing will do that," he commented.

Benefits Discounted
"The inlet will not reduce existing navigational hazards; it will only introduce a new one; the inlet will not produce significant benefits to commercial and pleasure craft; it will lead toward more congested conditions in the rivers," the report continued.

The benefits of more boating and more business establishments were deemed "questionable" by the society (See Hook page 2) per cent last year, which calls for an added $125,000 to be raised by taxes this year.

He said there were other deficiencies in 1970 budget accounts which prevented spending for needed services due to the transfer of funds to avoid other emergency appropriations.

The largest deficiency, the mayor said, was in the insurance account, which required transfers totaling $40,000.

Mayor Cioffi also said the decision to provide city-operated garbage collections this year has reduced this year's appropriation needs by $73,000 compared to last year's budget.

The mayor termed the city's financial condition "sound." In citing improved services and the reduced local purpose tax rate, he added: "... we look to the future with confidence to continue on this path, provided public confidence and harmony in government prevails."

visible truth," Mr. Robinson said. "If we really want to carry out the dreams of Dr. King, we've got to get on the case... we've got to get involved. We'll be intimidated. We'll know the dangers. It's a lonely road."

Cites Challenge
"The challenge tonight is to get on the case of low income housing (there is none in Monmouth County, he said), of employment, of a national budget that still allocates 80 per cent to a war..."
Still another King program in Red Bank was held for area students at Red Bank Regional High School. Approximately 300 students from Red Bank and surrounding communities turned out to hear Elliott Moorman, a senior at Princeton University and an author on civil rights. Mr. Moorman said Dr. King's birthday should be a time for a "frank evaluation."

"We still must face serious antagonism toward most black people," he said. "It doesn't mean we have to break every window on Broad St." he continued. "But we should see exactly where we are. Sometimes a value is more important than the mode of the struggle..."

The student program on Friday also included poetry readings, a film and discussion groups. On Saturday night, a dance was held for area students at Red Bank Regional High School and featured the music of The Exploitation. According to Hosie Scott, who headed youth activities for the King Weekend, approximately 200 students attended.

The weekend began on Thursday night when a movie, "King—Montgomery to Memphis," was shown at Congregation B'nai Israel, Rumson. Approximately 500 attended.

Members of the observance committee started planning the events for the King Weekend last June. In addition to the observance, they also conducted a campaign to persuade local boards of education to make Dr. King's birthday a school holiday and they formed study groups, involving more than 100 participants, that concentrated on black literature. The groups met weekly through the fall and ended with the King Weekend.

May Shift Services Office

said the area of Monmouth from Long Branch north has a population about equal to the whole of Ocean County.

Joseph E. Taylor, MCAP executive director, pointing out that Monmouth County has both a larger population and higher incidence of poverty than Ocean, said the merger "doesn't make sense..." He said the MLSO should be strengthened.

He said 22 per cent of Monmouth's 549,000 population have annual incomes below $3,000, compared to 17 per cent of Ocean's 208,000 population.

MLSO and MCAP officials said the merger would make legal aid inaccessible to a large number of Monmouth's poor because of the lack of public transportation both in the county and between the two counties.

Mr. Taylor noted that under the merger a person in Morganville would have an 80-mile round-trip to the Toms River office which would serve that area.

One of the criticisms Mr. Dietrich's letter cited was that MLSO isn't reaching the poor.

Rebuttal Made
In rebuttal, Larry Lawson, a Neptune resident and law school student, told of the work he and three other summer interns with MLSO did last summer.

He said that during the Asbury Park disorders the MLSO attorneys won the confidence of young blacks. He said MLSO got 167 persons out of jail and discovered the curfew proclamation was improperly drafted and the disorderly persons statute unconstitutional.

He said that through the intervention of the MLSO, there is a free lunch program in the Neptune Township and Asbury Park schools and sewers for the poor black community in Marlboro. He said the MLSO worked to organize tenants associations in Long Branch, Asbury Park and Freehold and conferred with the welfare board about the rights of clients.

Programs Outlined
Jacob Levin, MLSO director, outlined his programs, including the new cooperative consumer protection program. Mr. Apy said that according to the Auerbach report, the MLSO is performing more than satisfactorily "in an area they say should be 72 per cent of our work — service to individual clients..."

Mr. Shephard said the Auerbach evaluators were harsher in their judgment of the Ocean County program "which has done nothing" and declared, "you can't take your money away, you can't force us to join an organization which hasn't produced anything and tell us it's for our benefit."

Mr. Dietrich's letter said the NLS assessment of the Ocean program was a factor in its determination that a merger would correct the alleged MLSO deficiencies. It also was disclosed at the hearing that Mrs. Jane Cordo, director of the Ocean agency and a merger proponent, would direct the merged program at a $19,000 salary.

Mr. Dietrich's letter says a larger staff serving a larger community would be more productive, but the proposed budget eliminates the position of one attorney — from Monmouth — and three secretaries. There would be four attorneys in the Toms River office paid $14,000 each and four in Monmouth, at $12,000 each.

The proposed budget projects an approximate $33,400 savings. The MLSO has been getting $133,000 in federal funds and the Ocean agency about $103,000.

The Monmouth and Ocean County chapters of the American Civil Liberties Union each would appoint one attorney to the new agency's board of directors. There isn't any Ocean County ACLU and Walter Marvin, president of the Monmouth chapter, said no one has discussed that proposal with him.

Hook Inlet Proposal Is Seen Wrong

which noted that New Jersey already is the most industrialized state in the nation, the rivers are crowded and the waters will become more trash laden.

In lieu of the inlet, the society offered these projects as "logical alternatives to the efforts and money devoted to the... inlet."

Recommendations Made
— Tie Fort Monmouth sewers into the Northeast Monmouth County Regional Sewer Authority, bringing a total cleanup of the Navesink and Shrewsbury Rivers.

— Encourage the establishment of procedures for small boat sewage offloading in the two rivers and Sandy Hook Bay leading to legislation which prohibits dumping of such sewage.

— Apply federal funds to the protection of wildlife habitat in the two river basins and wetland areas of Sandy Hook Bay.

— Accelerate steps to ban the dumping of sewer sludge and dredge spoils in New York Bight.

— And accelerate construction of sewage treatment plants in the vicinity.

The society's position paper has been forwarded to Russell Train, chairman of the federal Council on Environmental Quality, Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., Congressman James J. Howard, D-N.J. and Freehold Director Joseph P. Irwin, Mr. Bennett stated.

The declaration by the Littoral Society lengthens the lists of area organizations including the Monmouth County League of Women Voters, the Baymen's Association in Highlands and clamammers, which have voiced opposition to the inlet.

NEW SHREWSBURY — Local police continue their investigation into an armed robbery Friday night at the Airport Inn, 560 Shrewsbury Ave., here, in which five Negro males robbed the establishment and about 10 customers.

According to the police, the five men entered the establishment at approximately 11:22 p.m. and announced "this is a holdup." One of the men, according to the police was armed with a sawed off shotgun.

Everyone in the establishment was ordered to lie on the floor, police said, whereupon the five proceeded to take wallets and pocketbooks from the customers and three employees. After taking the entire proceeds of the cash register, the five reportedly escaped into the night.

You don't cop out. Why should your cigarette?

Some people wouldn't trade full flavor for low 'tar' for anything. They wouldn't cop out. Now they don't have to.

Because now there is Vantage, the all-new filter cigarette that's not just a lot of hot air.

Only Vantage has the ingenious Vantage filter geometrically shaped to increase filtration.

It lets you give up those high 'tar' cigarettes without asking you to cop out on flavor.

11mg tar
0.9mg nicotine

Wants Out of Death Row

NEWARK — Edgar H. Smith Jr., a high school dropout who became a jailhouse lawyer in his 13 years on Death Row, is trying again to have his murder conviction set aside.

His attorneys promised "new evidence" at a hearing in federal court in Newark.

Smith handled much of his own legal work in previous appeals before state and federal courts. However, Edward Bennett Williams, a nationally renowned criminal lawyer from Washington, and Stephen P. Lichtenstein of Trenton have been handling the most recent phases.

WELCOME VISITOR — Carlos Zamora, right, natural science teacher from Costa Rica, is feted at faculty reception at Red Bank Regional High School where he will be visiting until Feb. 19 under the International Educational Development Program. Welcoming Mr. Zamora are Richard J. Robinson, left, head of the school's Spanish National Honor Society, and Larry B. Seip, chairman of the science department. (Register Staff Photo)

Restraint on Hazlet Officers In Police Matter Dissolved

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill has dissolved a temporary restraint which barred the Hazlet Township Committee from assuming the assignment power of the Hazlet police chief.

But Judge Simmill did not dismiss the complaint brought by Hazlet Police Chief William J. Smith to stop the committee from implementing a resolution, adopted at a special meeting Nov. 24, which transfers certain assignments of police duties from the chief to the committee. A hearing date is to be fixed.

Chief Smith's attorney, Philip J. Blanda Jr. of Hazlet, argued that the resolution undermines the chief in his directives, makes for low morale and efficiency in the department and causes a breakdown of authority. He said the legislative arm is usurping an executive function.

The committee resolution said that all police sergeants shall be assigned to such duties as the Township Committee may direct and in the absence of any directive shall be assigned to such duties as the police chief may direct.

The resolution directs the chief to place Sgt. John McCabe on desk duty and Sgt. Thomas Johnson on the juvenile squad. It directs the chief to have all organizational units report to Capt. Holmes J. Gormerly, who in turn reports to the chief.

Mr. Blanda told the judge Friday that this is a "circuitous route to accomplish the one act of getting a report from a department head."

He also stated that the resolution places an $80,000 application for state and federal aid under the National Highway Safety Act in jeopardy.

The complaint states that Chief Smith assigned Sgt.

McCabe to the post of safety officer after the chief instituted a program to comply with the provisions of the act and applied for the aid. Without the continuance of Sgt. McCabe in this post, it maintains, the aid could be lost.

Mr. Blanda argued that the committee resolution in effect gave the chief's duties to Capt. Gormerly. He said this causes a "breakdown in the chain of command and authority" and said the "department is going down hill (because of this)."

Judge Simmill said no facts concerning morale in the department had been set forth in the affidavits accompanying the complaint, — only conclusions.

The complaint also alleges that the resolution has the effect of demoting the chief without charges or a hearing and that it was adopted illegally because it was considered at a special meeting which was allegedly illegal and void.

Judge Simmill had imposed the temporary restraint Dec. 3.

Township Attorney Howard A. Roberts represented Hazlet.

New Burglar/Fire Alarm Provides "Plug-In" Protection

You program the Knightguard's new alarm system like a computer to perform what you want it to do. Turn on lights, sound alarm, call police, etc. It generates silent sound waves that create an invisible "no man's land" which an intruder cannot get through without triggering the alarm. A direct spin-off of advanced space age and military security technology, it protects against fire and smoke, too. No wiring or installation — just plugs in. Looks like an expensive stereo, yet it's the world's most foolproof, yet inexpensive alarm system. Sealing is believing.

18-Year-Old Vote

By JIM BISHOP
The ballot has always been the hallmark of the free citizen. It represents his endorsement, and also his indictment.

but I had no significant knowledge of what I was doing. As a group, 18-year-olds are high-risk drivers.

Does this mean that I think that the Congress was mad to give the ballot to the unfranchised between the ages of 18 and 21? You bet it does.

The new voters are taught that the United States has been built on a triad government composed of the Congress, the President and the Supreme Court.

This is not to say that all 18-year-olds are as ignorant as I was. Some grow up with political savvy by listening to intelligent dinner table conversation.

WELL, IT JUST isn't true. The presidency is stronger than either of the other two. Most of our laws come from White House teams.

THE PROSPECT excites no alarm in this breast. The matter has already been adjudicated and the youngsters are entitled to vote.

Politics is a land of promissory notes seldom redeemed. The struggle for election is harsh, expensive and unrelenting.

At age 18, they are eligible to drive a car and die for our country, they should be eligible to vote. These do not equate.

In our family, daughter number one is in her early 90s and is interested in politics, local as well as national.

At age five, I was eligible to cross a street and get killed,

Count me out as a friend of the long-haired campus cuties. I'd prefer to vote for a mature barber.

"That Terrible Congress - Look At All The Things They Didn't Approve"

CONSERVATIVE VIEW

It's the Waiting Time

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK
SCRABBLE, Va. - This is our waiting time, here in the Blue Ridge Mountains, and I mark it for all who wait across the January land.

a sergeant major of a bird. He arrives, hallowing for order. Off limits! Police those grounds! Get a move on!

Here on a winter's afternoon, it is pointless to hurry: There is no place to go. The flags have been raised, the kindling chopped, a load of firelogs brought to the hearth.

Others are not so terrified. We have had a couple of four-star bluejays on stage, admiral in dress blues, and we have had a tough merchant sailor in the form of a red-bellied woodpecker, red-capped, striped shirt.

It is a sepiid day outside, as if the engravers had done their work for rotogravure. In the far distance, the mountains slumber like old men, white haired.

Then the quart: Twelve of them, gossiping and skittering, beautifully bosomed, ladies of the D.A.R. The admirals bow and the sailor winks and the street urchins scatter once more.

TODAY BRINGS A flock of song sparrows, and if it seems to you unlikely that we should have song sparrows in Happa Hancock County on a frozen January afternoon, all I can say is that there they are in the bird book, and there they are on the sepiid lawn - a chorus of urchins, fresh from Oliver Twist.

MEANWHILE, THE seed catalogues. These are part of the waiting time. Out of the snow, the mind's eye sees the crocus peeping. So we make lists of lettuce, cantaloupes, tomato trees; lists of egg plant, cucumbers, carrots, early peas, a midget corn; lists of zinnias large as pie plates, of delphiniums, marigolds, geraniums, dianthus.

In the Senate Appropriations Committee where the manpower ceiling originated, the idea was to limit the number of people assigned to what was beginning to mushroom as a giant intelligence bureaucracy within the Defense Department.

There are books to be read in the waiting time, shelves of books, great cliffs of books - the new Hemingway, a heavyweight work by Lewis Mumford, Lee Smith's new novel, a few old favorites revisited.

The House, which had proposed budget cuts, went along with the Senate in the final days of the expired Congress. Both cuts and ceiling were included in the $67 billion defense appropriation which was sent to the White House during the congressional wind-up.

Then twilight and lamplight, and time to take in the flags. They come to my arms in a burst of color, the flag of Virginia, the flag of my country, clean-cold, still breathing the crisp air they have flown in all day. I fold them, and put them away, and return to the kitchen fire and the waiting time. I have not earned a penny since morning, but I am richer than I was last night.

CUTS OPPOSED - The moves to curb intelligence operations were not directly attributable to recent criticism. The congressional actions had been initiated before most of the criticism began.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Economics of Mobile Homes

By SYLVIA PORTER
This year, you will spend a minimum of $2.5 billion to buy more than 400,000 mobile homes - a fantastic five times the sum you spent for this type of housing a mere decade ago in 1960.

nance and utility charges would typically run $20-$40. What's more, when you buy a mobile home, you avoid altogether the usual costly array of closing costs, legal fees, similar charges.

It is fair to say, however, that neither of these recent events sent congressional leaders running to support the Pentagon when it protested the curbs on intelligence activities.

Here's a dramatic illustration of the difference in costs of owning a mobile vs. a conventional home, calculated by Prof. Carl M. Edwards of Michigan State University: An average of $237 per month in direct costs of owning a $20,000 home with an 8 1/2 per cent FHA-backed mortgage over 30 years, including mortgage, interest, taxes, insurance, maintenance, furnishings, water and sewer charges, all the rest.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird wrote the Senate Appropriations Chairman, Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., that the Pentagon would not really mind getting down to 138,000 intelligence assignments, by June 15 as ordered, and would be willing to comply.

AN AVERAGE of only $108 per month in direct costs of owning a mobile home over 10 years. (Prof. Edwards figures the average life of a mobile home at 10 years and depreciation at the rate of 20 per cent the first year and thereafter 7 per cent a year.) To summarize, typical mobile home economics today: Basic home price, $6,000; down payment (20 per cent), $1,200; bal. to be financed, $4,800; monthly payment, five yrs., $104; total 60 monthly payments, $7,440; total financing costs, $1,440; land, $500, and installation, $50.

Laird objected, however, to putting the ceiling into law. He said an emergency might require a great intelligence build-up and that such action might not be possible "on a timely basis" if a change in law was necessary.

I readily admit I'm sidestepping the loaded subjects of mobile home aesthetics and shabby home parks, the adequacy of space.

The armed services complained that budget cuts, as proposed by the House, would interfere with strategic and combat intelligence operations. Individual services asked that some of the funds be restored.

And I hope that this simple economics lesson also shouts to the leaders of our conventional housing industry - including architects and engineers as well as builders and construction workers - how vast is the challenge to them.

The Police Walkout

New York City Mayor Lindsay is correct in denouncing the walkout by many policemen there as "an attack on the people of this city and on the rule of law itself."

They have taken an opposite approach. The policemen have ignored a back-to-work court order as well as their own Patrolmen's Benevolent Association's request to resume performing their regular duties.

That is the situation in New York City as 20,000 city patrolmen refused to man their posts for a fourth day and negotiators intensified their efforts yesterday to settle the walkout.

City negotiators are now working simultaneously and without preconditions or time limit with representatives of police, firemen and sanitationmen, all of whom have been without contracts since the New Year and whose settlements are interrelated.

Our purpose here is not to discuss the wage issues in this dispute. What concerns us is to see law enforcement officers taking part in such an action, at the same time jeopardizing the safety of New York City's eight million citizens.

In the meantime, as far as the police are concerned, protection for New Yorkers will be provided by 6,500 plain-clothesmen, uniformed officers and probationary patrolmen, along with some regular patrolmen of the 32,000-man department who have not gone along with the job action.

Interestingly, many of these policemen are the ones who champion the cause of law and order. But now, in a situation that has confronted them directly, they have taken an opposite approach.

Today, we commend them - men who, in time of crisis, are carrying out their duties. This is the true test of dedication and public interest.

Plans for an Ecology Center

We are impressed with the planning that is taking place to set up an Ecology Center in this area of the county.

League, the National Council of Jewish Women, the Citizens for Water Pollution, the American Association of University Women, Planned Parenthood, the League of Women Voters, the Rumson Conservation Commission and Hadassah. Other groups and citizens also are reported to be interested.

The suggestion came originally from Derrickson Bennett, conservation director of the American Littoral Society, and Jack Pierce, the marine biologist at the Sandy Hook Marine Laboratory. And, since then, several area organizations have grasped the idea and set it in motion.

The county is fortunate that so many sincere efforts at conservation have been started here - at both a citizen and official level. Such action speaks well for all those who seek to preserve the environment.

The groups, basically, are interested in opening a center in the Red Bank area where ecological information of all kinds would be available upon request. What is exciting is the fact that it would greatly involve many county residents in the ecological effort.

But the thrust can be enhanced by the establishment of an Ecology Center in an area such as downtown Red Bank. This would bring the situation to a level where it would interest many of our residents - and, in turn, bring about even greater positive action.

Eight organizations were represented at a recent meeting and a steering committee was formed to continue a search for a storefront in Red Bank. Now involved are the Junior

Unemployment in New Jersey

Somehow, the Nixon Administration's statements that the recession has "bottomed out" do not mean too much in New Jersey.

Significant unemployment rate increases occurred in the Jersey City, Newark and Paterson-Clifton-Passaic job areas, thus presenting new problems in the city areas.

The State Department of Labor and Industry reports that the unemployment rate in the state rose to 6 per cent in December - and that, for your information, is the highest for that month since 1963.

We are still looking to the Nixon Administration to give us the answers to the problems of inflation and rising unemployment. It appeared the problems could be solved easily in campaign rhetoric - but, when it entailed developing hard solutions, it became more difficult. It is time that Washington began taking some firm steps - perhaps at least even wage and price guidelines - to make the plight easier for most Americans.

More than 168,000 people were reported out of work during the month, 5,900 more than in November and 54,000 more than December 1960. In what is called the Long Branch area, the rate is 6.3 per cent because of a reduction in the number of part-time and temporary jobseekers.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Needy Elderly Being Cheated?

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
Is the Social Security Administration secretly refunding only 50 per cent of Medicare charges instead of the legally required 80 per cent?

have recently come under sharp criticism. The rather liberal ceiling, set at 138,000 civilian and military employees, will, in itself, do much to restrict them. It will, however, help budget cuts curb intelligence operations.

That's the highly pertinent question Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., has bluntly put up to HEW Secretary Elliott Richardson.

Many military intelligence operations are, of course, conducted in toto by military personnel. Budget cuts can be circumvented by giving intelligence assignments to military men on other payrolls.

In a letter to the latter, Stratton states he had read a "startling report" that the Social Security Administration quietly ordered its regional offices to repay Medicare accounts, beginning July, 1970, at 50 per cent of the total bill rather than 80 per cent.

The House, which had proposed budget cuts, went along with the Senate in the final days of the expired Congress. Both cuts and ceiling were included in the $67 billion defense appropriation which was sent to the White House during the congressional wind-up.

"Such action would not only be contrary to the law," Stratton told Richardson in a letter, "but will obviously place very severe hardships on thousands of needy older citizens. I would appreciate your promptly advising me whether this information is true, and if so why this order was issued."

The House approved the budget cuts before the Son Tay raid prompted criticism of the caliber of field intelligence which would support a raid on a prisoner-of-war camp weeks after all POWs had been removed from the premises.

Particularly cited by Stratton is the apparent secrecy surrounding the matter. He noted there has been no official statement about it one way or the other.

The Senate Committee authorized its ceiling before military intelligence services came under criticism for surveillance of activities by supposedly subversive civilians - surveillance which a federal judge has described as "typical Washington bureaucrat boondoggling."

"I WOULD LIKE to know who issued this order," wrote Stratton, "under what rules or regulations or legal authority it was issued, and in particular I would like to know whether a deliberate effort had been made by the Social Security Administration to keep this change of policy secret from the American public."

It is fair to say, however, that neither of these recent events sent congressional leaders running to support the Pentagon when it protested the curbs on intelligence activities.

Also raised by Stratton is the question whether the reputed drastic cut in Medicare refunds is in any way connected with the already announced increase in Medicare premiums.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird wrote the Senate Appropriations Chairman, Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., that the Pentagon would not really mind getting down to 138,000 intelligence assignments, by June 15 as ordered, and would be willing to comply.

"I also want to know," Stratton told Secretary Richardson, "just what the significance of this action will be for the future operation of the Medicare system in view of the recent announcement that Medicare premiums will rise effective July, 1971."

Laird objected, however, to putting the ceiling into law. He said an emergency might require a great intelligence build-up and that such action might not be possible "on a timely basis" if a change in law was necessary.

There has been no comment so far about this widely important matter from either Richardson or the Social Security Administration.

The armed services complained that budget cuts, as proposed by the House, would interfere with strategic and combat intelligence operations. Individual services asked that some of the funds be restored.

Stratton is a former mayor of Schenectady, N.Y., a twice-decorated Navy veteran, an honor graduate of Harvard and trustee of Eisenhower College, Seneca Falls, N.Y., and a ranking member of the powerful House Armed Services Committee.

Four at MCN Bank Win Promotions

RED BANK — George L. Bieltz, president of the Monmouth County National Bank, has announced the promotions of John J. Burns, Howard D. Johnson, Mrs. Anne P. Mewes and Mrs. I. Lillian C. Spengeman to assistant cashier.

Mr. Burns entered banking in 1959 and attended the American Institute of Banking. He was formerly with the Commercial Trust Company of New Jersey. He is with the general staff in the bank's Freehold office. He lives with his wife and three children in East Keansburg. He is a member of the American Institute of Banking, Monmouth Chapter and the St. Catherine's P.T.A., East Keansburg.

Mrs. Johnson attended Monmouth College and the American Institute of Banking. He joined the bank in 1965 and is in charge of customer securities. He served with the Marine Corps Reserve and resides in Belford with his wife and three children. He is a member of the Monmouth Chapter, American Institute of Banking and the Middletown Jaycees.

Mrs. Mewes attended Trenton State Teachers College and started her banking career in 1949. She joined MCN in 1969 and serves in the bank's installment loan department. Mrs. Mewes lives with her husband in West Long Branch and is a member of the National Association of Bank Women.

Mrs. Spengeman began her banking career in 1942 and was with Atlantic Highlands National Bank when it merged with MCN in 1969. She is with the bank's Atlantic Highlands branch. She resides with her husband in Atlantic Highlands. She attended the American Institute of Banking and

Hazlet Acts Against Bridal Shop

FREEHOLD — Mr. and Mrs. William Potts of Fleetwood Drive and Rt. 35, Hazlet, are directed by court order to show cause Friday, Feb. 19, why they should not be stopped from using their residence as a bridal shop.

The show cause order, signed by Superior Court Judge Francis X. Crahay, was obtained by Hazlet zoning officer Anthony DeMajo.

In his complaint, Mr. DeMajo said he signed a complaint against the defendants May 1, 1969, for violating the zoning ordinance by using their residence for a bridal shop. They subsequently were found guilty and fined $100 in municipal court Dec. 10, 1969, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts appealed the conviction, continued Mr. DeMajo, but the appeal was dismissed with prejudice when they failed to move their case.

The zoning officer maintains that they have continued to use their premises for a shop, not withstanding instructions by him and Township Committee to discontinue the use. Howard A. Roberts of Middletown represents Mr. DeMajo.

Would Stall Evaluation

MARLBORO — Joseph C. LaMura, township tax assessor, has recommended that the revaluation of homes here be delayed until next year.

This means that residents would be paying taxes based on prior evaluations of their homes.

Mr. LaMura, in a letter to the Township Council, said that he made this recommendation because the North American Appraisal Co., contracted to do the revaluation at a fee of $41,000, had not given him preliminary tax figures to submit to the County Tax Board for their preparation of the preliminary equalization table.

Mr. LaMura said that he has therefore submitted a preliminary total based on previous years' assessments to the Tax Board on Jan. 15.

Car Hits Tree, Driver Ticketed

MIDDLETOWN — Kenneth G. Smith Jr., 23, of Hyattsville, Md., was summoned for careless driving after his car skidded out of control on Newman Springs Road and struck a tree Saturday morning.

Mr. Smith and his passenger, Henry Lynn of Rt. 520, Marlboro, were treated at Riverview Hospital, Red Bank for minor injuries and released. Patrolman Ronald Ohmmacht investigated.

Charge Downgraded, 4 Fined $50 Each

HAZLET — Four men, charged with the theft of car heaters from Loew's Drive-In Theater, Rt. 35, pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of malicious mischief before Municipal Court Judge Vincent Agreoli.

which was suspended, were Russell Bailey, 66 Hialeah Ave., Middletown, and William T. McGrath, 117 Wilson Ave., Michael P. O'Donnell, 1 Park Ave., and Michael McFadyen, 47 Bray Ave., all Port Monmouth.

Thomas F. Crinigan, 40 Walling Ave., Belford, on charges of speeding and delinquent return of summons, and Edward M. Wohanka, 105 Poricy Lane, Middletown, on charges of delinquent inspection and delinquent return of summons. Mr. Wohanka also drew a suspended five-day jail term. Fined $25 each were Howard L. Case, 21 Hopkins Place, West Keansburg, careless driving charge, and Addison C. Ellerman, Cornmack, N.Y., charges of backing up on a Garden State Parkway exit and delinquent return of summons. Thomas J. Nelson, 74 Hamilton Ave., Leonardo, was assessed $15 on a charge of failing to produce a registration and $25, of which $10 was suspended, on a charge of delinquent return of summons.

Fined $10 on a charge of driving with a defective muffler and $25, of which $10 was suspended, on a charge of delinquent return of summons was Joseph Fernandez, East Brunswick. Assessed on speeding charges were Otto J. Miller, 611 Hopping Road, Belford, $20, and Edward J. Berrett, Park Road, Apt. 14, Monmouth Beach, $10.

Marlboro Schedules School Budget Hearing • Teacher Mediation Failure Reported

MARLBORO — A public hearing will be held tonight on this year's proposed $2,794,981 school budget, up $587,954 over last year.

The current expense allotment is $96,975, up $19,454. This includes $96,975 for administration; $1,587,260 for instruction, which includes the purchase of 4,000 new library books, expected to increase the number of present books by 40 per cent, and the addition of four teachers as well as a second instrumental music teacher and second Spanish teacher; $207,165 for transportation and $188,000 for operation.

Included in the $85,900 marked for capital outlay is the development of a "learning center", which is a pilot program planned for the Central School. The concept is expected to be implemented in a room next to the library, and will be under the supervision of the librarian. Its primary function will be to provide opportunities for small group instruction and enrichment programs.

Also included in capital outlay is the proposed purchase of six new school buses, as well as funds to replace the incinerator plant at the Central School. Capital outlay is up $35,500 over last year.

The Board of Education has prepared a detailed description of the budget which will be mailed to voters prior to the Feb. 9 school election. The public hearing on the budget will begin at 8 p.m. at the Central School.

MIDDLETOWN — The Middletown Township Education Association has reported that efforts to reach agreement with the Board of Education with the aid of a mediator appointed by the Public Employment Relations Commission have failed.

"The mediator announced to both sides that he will recommend a fact-finder be appointed in a letter to PERC tomorrow," Charles E. Goodhart, MTEA president, confirmed.

The MTEA president said the teachers and the board are still apart on six issues, including salaries and the index guide. The board has moved somewhat, he said, but only in the direction of eliminating the index guide.

The index guide, in effect in five area school districts, provides base salaries with horizontal and vertical ratios determining upper pay levels.

The board is "very adamant" in its opposition to the index guide, Mr. Goodhart said.

He added that the teachers contemplate no job action at present.

"We're going to try to cut corners with the fact-finder, to get him here in a matter of days instead of weeks," he explained.

Creative Dance Course Slated

MATAWAN — Miss Winifred Widener, noted performer and teacher, will instruct a course in creative dance for youngsters 5 to 12 in the Matawan student Enrichment Program's spring term, beginning Saturday, Jan. 30, in Lloyd Road Intermediate School, Matawan Township.

Miss Widener, who has studied with Martha Graham and Hanya Holm, owns the Creative Dance Center, Tinton Falls, and has taught throughout the area.

The enrichment program also offers cultural, art, hobby and science courses for children of all ages.

State Band Appointment For Toscano

LONG BRANCH — Louis Toscano Jr., a junior at Long Branch High School, has been selected for the Region II All State Band.

More than 625 high school student musicians from Union, Somerset, Middlesex, Hunterdon, Mercer and Monmouth Counties gathered Saturday at the Scotch Plains-Farwood High School for the annual auditions for the Region II New Jersey All State Band and Orchestra.

The 130-piece band and 80 piece-orchestra will rehearse on consecutive Friday afternoons at various high schools in those counties.

The Band will present a concert Sunday, Feb. 14, at 3 p.m. in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School.

The orchestra will give its concert Sunday, Jan. 31 at 3 p.m. in Hunterdon Central High School Auditorium.

Toscano is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Toscano Sr. of 12 Reid St. He has been a member of the high school marching and symphonic bands three years. He has been a member of the indoor track team and the Chess Club. In the summer of 1968, he studied French in France and Switzerland with the Foreign Study League. He plans to major in mathematics or biological sciences in college.

Government Courses Are Scheduled

NEW BRUNSWICK — Aspects of municipal government operation will be covered in a wide selection of courses to be offered next semester by Rutgers University's Bureau of Government Research and Extension Division.

In Monmouth County, course offerings include:

Freehold—municipal current fund accounting, 16 weeks beginning Feb. 17.

Wall Township—property tax administration, 13 weeks beginning Feb. 4; principles of zoning administration, eight weeks beginning March 4; management of public authorities, eight weeks beginning March 4, and introduction to local planning, eight weeks beginning March 4.

Instructors will include members of the Rutgers faculty, government officials and other experts in fields to be covered.

Details and registration forms may be obtained from the Bureau of Government Research, Building 4053, Kilmor Campus, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, 08903.

Rugg Heads First Aid Squad

RUMSON — At the January meeting, First Aid Squad Capt. James Wagner reported that the squad answered 401 combined calls, traveled 7,122 miles and contributed 2,100 man hours during 1970.

Elected were Kenneth Rugg, president; Lawrence Harrington, vice president; Frank Bernhard, secretary, and William Strohmenger, treasurer.

Line officers are Robert Zerr, captain; Leonard Frisca, lieutenant; Joseph Sorrentino, first sergeant, and Robert Pomphrey, second sergeant.

Mr. Rugg said that, as a charter member of the 16th District of the N.J. State First Aid Council, the squad is on record as opposing a section of the Federal Highway Act that would allow New Jersey to license and control all volunteer first aid and rescue squads.

He suggested that members contact their friends and recommend they write to their elected officials to protest this action.

Union Beach Board Keeps Health Aides

UNION BEACH — Carmen Stoppello was reelected president as the Board of Health reorganized for 1971.

Joseph Coffey was reelected vice president and Mrs. Anna M. Smith was reappointed secretary.

The board will continue to meet the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Board of Health offices adjacent to the police station.

Plea for Variance Ocean Board Denies

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — The local Zoning Board of Adjustment has rejected a plan by Sebastian Gelino of Eatontown, to build a house on an undersized lot at Harnell and Elmwood Aves., Oakhurst. Mr. Gelino was told that a building program on the site would probably be confronted with drainage difficulties.

The board ruled the applicant failed to show that a hardship exists and denied the application by a 4-0 vote.

Four applications to build houses on undersized lots went to other applicants.

They are John F. Natal, Belmar St., Oakhurst; Alfred Garrino, Roselle and Beverly Aves.; D. and S. Epstein, N. Edgemere Drive, Allenhurst, and George Gorecke, Elizabeth Ave. and Whalepond Road.

Amory Osborn Heads Firemen

RED BANK — New officers of the Hook and Ladder Co. for 1971 are Amory Osborn, who succeeds Robert Laveratt as president; Donald Wright, vice president; Albert Nolan, secretary; Charles McMahon, assistant secretary, and Leo O'Connor, treasurer.

Joseph Layton Jr. is captain; William Wolchak, first lieutenant; Henry Labrecque, second lieutenant; Donald Hubbard, engineer, and Jay McQueen, Fred Crine and Fred Wikoff, assistant engineers.

Highlands Sets Added Split of Third Grade

HIGHLANDS — The Elementary Board of Education has hired Mrs. Mercedes Doods of Red Bank as its third grade teacher in anticipation of a further split in that grade level.

Administrative principal, Donald Shanks, explained that in view of "the needs of the children," the split is necessary. There are presently 66 children in the third grade with more expected before the end of the year.

Mrs. Florence Adair dissented strongly on the need to lower class size through the split and instead suggested creating another class at the fifth or sixth grade level. "There's nothing wrong with 33 children in a class," she maintained.

Mr. Shanks and other board members said it was more important that children get individualized attention in the lower, more profitable grades.

Polling Change Okayed
The board approved a change in the election polling place from the school to the Fire Department on Bay Ave. adjacent to the Municipal Building.

This will provide a more accessible voting place for elderly and downtown residents during the 5 to 9 p.m. voting hours on Feb. 9. The change will be in effect for subsequent school elections.

Because of the impending election, the board postponed consideration of a joint special education transportation system with the Atlantic Highlands Elementary and Henry Hudson Regional district.

The costs of the program, to transport the children to various other districts for special education would be on a shared basis.

Also deferred until March was formation of a regional child study team approach for 1972-73 school year with the other local districts.

And finally postponed until March, was consideration of participation in the Sandy Hook Project.

Aid Men Hear Doctor

UNION BEACH — Dr. Harold Chafkin of Middletown, who specializes in internal medicine and cardiology, discussed treatment and diagnosis of emergency patients at a meeting of the Union Beach First Aid Squad.

Also attending the lecture were members of the Keyport First Aid Squad.

Dr. Chafkin is director of Internal Medicine at Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, and chairman of the Coronary Care Committee and medical consultant to the board of governors of Bayshore Community Hospital, Holmdel.

Harry Duncan Heads Squad

HIGHLANDS — Harry Duncan has been installed as president of the First Aid Squad.

Other executive officers include Orris "Bud" Steelman, vice president; Charles Kinney Sr., secretary; Nelson Shaulis, corresponding secretary; Frederick Katz, financial secretary, and John Franklin, sergeant-at-arms.

Line officers are Robert Matthews, captain and chief driver; George Armstrong, junior captain; Mr. Shaulis, first lieutenant and assistant chief driver, and George Connell, second lieutenant.

The squad answered 720 calls in 1970 and its three ambulances traveled 18,733 miles.

Robbery Case Mistrial Called

FREEHOLD — County Court Judge Patrick J. McGann Jr. had declared a mistrial in the trial of a New York City man who was charged with robbery when the jury failed to reach a verdict.

Louis Saches was charged with robbing James Fletcher Winter Haven, Fla., of his wallet containing $180 and with assault with intent to rob Aug. 17, 1969 in Keansburg.

Assistant County Prosecutor James Cary presented the state's case. Charles Frank of Asbury Park represented Saches.

2 Men Fined In Cop Assault

FREEHOLD — Monmouth County Court Judge Patrick J. McGann Jr. has fined two Bayshore men $200 each for committing assault and battery upon Keansburg Patrolman Frederick Ackerly in Keansburg Sept. 6, 1969.

Gilbert Jeffrey Williams of 18 Ave. C, West Keansburg, and Timothy Patrick Sterling of 99 Greengrove Ave., Keyport, pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 7.

Computer Workshop Site Is Switched

LINCROFT — Because its popularity is greater than anticipated, Brookdale Community College's computer workshop will be staged here instead of in the college's computer center in Middletown.

The site of the workshop has been changed to the Forum, Building A, on the campus here to provide sufficient space. An all-day program, it starts at 8:45 a.m. Saturday.

Women's Medical Assoc. Elects Dr. Zinke President

FREEHOLD — At the annual meeting of the New Jersey Medical Women's Association, Dr. Myra Zinke of Holmdel, was installed president here in the American Hotel.

Dr. Zinke, who is vice president of the Monmouth County Medical Society, is a specialist in internal medicine, practicing in Holmdel. Originally from Buffalo, N.Y., Dr. Zinke was graduated from the University of Buffalo, and then came to Jersey City Medical Center to do her internship and residency in internal medicine. She is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine and is a fellow of the American College of Physicians. Her particular interest lies in liver disease, particularly in its relationship to hepatitis and alcoholism.

Her free time is spent taking care of her home, and her eight year old son. She loves to garden, and when she has the time and the weather is right, she loves to take her hike out for a long ride.

Other officers sworn in with Dr. Zinke are: president elect, Dr. Berta Rodos, Irvington; first vice president, Satty Gill Keswani, Livingston; second vice president, Dr. Nancy Durant, Plainfield; treasurer, Dr. Hilde Baruch, Elizabeth; recording secretary, Dr. Barbara Solemone, Clifton, and corresponding secretary, Dr. Sandra Schwartz.

Dr. Mary Mazzarella of Newark, is retired president.

DAR Chapter Aids National Project

MARLBORO — The Penelope Stout Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has made a donation to the Education Assistance Fund for Iowa Wesleyan College, a national DAR project during the three-year term of Mrs. Charles Jules Michelet Jr.

who work hard and seriously in intellectual pursuits."

The college, 128 years old, is one of the oldest schools west of the Mississippi River.

The national president was impressed with this small college because there have been no strikes, no student revolts, no confrontations of any kind. She stated "As an educational institution it has a record of small beginnings, large expectations and hard struggles... the tuition is kept as low as possible to attract students

Mrs. William G. Schanck, regent of the Penelope Stout Chapter, welcomed guests at a meeting here in the home of Mrs. Clarence Burke. Prospective members introduced are Mrs. Samuel Reed, Matawan; Mrs. Oswald Ramirez, Marlboro; Mrs. Hershel Harrod, Freehold, and Mrs. Augustine Scafidi, Morganville. Guest speaker was Joseph McCarthy, president of the Monmouth Coin Club. His topic was "Early American Coins."

Scout To See Apollo

FARMINGDALE — Monmouth Council of girl scouts has announced that Susan Kadenbach of Rumson, has received an invitation from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to attend the launching of the APOLLO 14 Jan. 31 at the John F. Kennedy Space Center, Florida. As they did for the Apollo 12 moon Mission in 1969, at which Monmouth Council had a representative Senior Scout, NASA has again invited Girl Scouts to attend a launching. Region I, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. are providing an opportunity for 23 girls. Miss Kadenbach was recommended by Monmouth Council of Girl Scouts because of her continuing active participation in many facets of the Girl Scout program.

Susan serves as vice president of the Senior Planning Board. She has been selected for the 1971 "Wyoming Trek" patrol opportunity. Last season she served as the Senior Scout member to the adult program services committee of Monmouth Council. A senior at Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School, Susan is the business and advertising manager for the school newspaper, Rumsonian. Interested in music, she plays flute in the school band and concert band, and is the first flutist of the symphonic wind ensemble. She sings with the Tower Singers and is a member of her church choir. In addition, Susan is a member of the school chess team and ski club. Other activities include water skiing, swimming and sailing.

An uncommon recipe from the uncommon salt

There is a difference in salt. Diamond Crystal, the uncommon salt, is better. Its tiny diamond crystals make food taste uncommonly good. Be sure to use it in this recipe for luscious candied yams.

OLD SOUTH Candied Yams

6 medium-sized yams
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup syrup
1 cup hot water

1 tbs. lemon juice
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup melted butter
1 rounded tsp. salt

Slice peeled yams 1/2" thick. Place in open layers in greased baking dish. Combine sugar, molasses, water, lemon, cinnamon, butter and salt. Pour over yams. Bake in moderate 350° oven until yams are tender, syrup thick. Taste as needed.

Every Mother Has Her Foibles

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: That was a terrible letter from the woman who called her mother senile just because she couldn't remember the names of her children.

Our own dear mother lived to be 88. There were 11 children in our family. We were all born before Mother was 32. She could never remember any of our names so she used to call us by our birthdays. I was "January 3." Everyone called me "Jan" for short. (They still do.) The two youngest in our family were twins. Mom called Harold, "Boy, February 9" and Burdette, "Girl, February 9." My oldest brother is called "Ape" by everyone. (His birthday was April 8th.) The only confusion was with my sisters June and Marie. When Mom would holler "June 1" she was calling Marie, but sometimes June (whose birthday was in December) would answer. Outside of that mixup there was no trouble. Some people thought this was very strange. We never did. It seemed perfectly natural to us. So please print my letter and remind your readers that every mother has her own little oddities and this doesn't mean she is nuts — January 3

Dear Jan: Thanks for letting us know how it was in your family. My mother called us by our names. Sometimes she'd call three names before she hit the right one — but she always made it eventually.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a freshman at a Midwestern University and I live in a dorm. I hope you'll answer in the paper because if a letter from Ann Landers showed up for me I'd die.

The problem is simple. I can't get a girl. I've had a few blind dates but when I ask a chick on my own I strike out.

I'm not the ugliest guy in the world and I can't figure out why I'm poison ivy. I see real jerks scoring left and right. One kid in this dorm who is a case of arrested development actually gets phone calls from dames. I'm a fairly good conversationalist and I really dig a solid rap session. Can you suggest something? I like chicks as well as the next guy but they don't like me. What's the word?—The loner

Dear Loner: You say you like chicks as well as the next guy — but who is the next guy, and how well does he like girls? Does he like them well enough to try a second or third time after he's been turned down? And what kind of chicks do you chase? The campus beauty who has 12 other cats running after her? You might hit pay dirt by calling the quiet, not-so-gorgeous gal who doesn't seem to have much going for her. You could solve your problem and hers, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 18. She is a high-minded, moral girl, holds a good job and has never caused us any trouble.

Last night when her dad was leaving (about midnight he slammed the door and yelled, "Go to hell." My husband is a sound sleeper and this awakened him. He asked me if I had heard it — and I had.

At breakfast this morning our daughter said nothing. This evening at the dinner table my husband asked her what the argument was about. She replied, "Nothing important. Bill came to the office this afternoon and we straightened everything out."

Is this sufficient? My husband and I think it's not. If she were your daughter what would you do? — Concerned Parents

Dear Concerned: I'd mind my own business. The hassle was between them. Stay out of it.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed, envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Committees Are Named

LITTLE SILVER — Mrs. Philip Varricchio, president of the Little Silver Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Company, installed committee chairmen for the year.

They are Mrs. Edward Grum, kitchen and coffee; Mrs. Richard Solari, publicity; Mrs. John Bacigalupi, chaplain; Mrs. Lillian Lovkin, scrapbook; Mrs. Warren Herbert, nominating; Mrs. Joseph Sinicus, membership; Mrs. Ruth Ricciardi, sick; Mrs. Hazel Tetley and Mrs. Lovekin, trustees; Mrs. Joseph Pace, Mrs. Bacigalupi, Mrs. Grum, Mrs. Robert Wickman and Mrs. Ricciardi, calling committee.

Future activities include a Feb. 13 cake sale, March 18 spaghetti dinner, June carnival, October trip to New York and December Christmas dinner.

Exhibit Opens

RED BANK — Etchings and paintings by Mae Rockland, Princeton, will be shown at The Garret, 10 Riverside Ave., through Jan. 30.

The artist has had one man shows in Madrid, Buenos Aires and Japan as well as in the United States. A graduate of the High School of Music and Art in New York City, she attended Hunter College, Alfred College of Ceramics and was graduated magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Minnesota.

In her recent work, Mae Rockland is using many of the techniques developed as a landscapist, but is applying them to the human condition.

Five Wills Probated By Surrogate

FREEHOLD — These five wills have been probated in the office of county Surrogate Louis R. Aikins.

Mannel Bastos of Little Silver, who died Nov. 25, left one-fourth of his estate each to Mrs. Corinne C. Douglas and to Mrs. Tommie Roosevelt and the balance to the children and grandchildren of the two women. His will was dated March 7, 1952.

Magdalena Hyer of Keyport, who died Dec. 18, left her estate equally to her stepchildren, LeRoy Hyer, Mildred Conwell, Harold Hyer, Pearl VanClief, Stanley Hyer and Verna Lehman, in her will of Jan. 22, 1965.

Elmira J. Mullin of Manalapan, who died Nov. 25, left her estate to her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Killen, in her will of Oct. 23, 1970.

Marion F. Schmitt of Matawan Township, who died Sept. 8, left her estate in trust to her brother, William P. Cooley, for the care, education and maintenance of her children. Her will was dated July 28, 1969.

Helen D. Symington of Rumson, who died Dec. 31, left $10,000 each to her grandchildren, Robert D. Ballantine, Martin D. Ballantine, William P. Ballantine and Jeannette Ballantine; $1,000 each to her great-grandchildren, and jewelry, wearing apparel and household effects to her daughter, Margaret D. Ballantine.

She left $1,500 each to Alice Barron, Mary Kelly and Helen H. Whyte; $1,200 to Isabella Daly; $1,000 to Annie O'Sullivan, and the balance of her estate to her daughter, Margaret D. Ballantine. Her will was dated Nov. 2, 1966.

APA Report On Hospitals Is Delayed

The American Psychiatric Association's report on its investigation of the state's mental hospitals, originally due Friday, won't be completed until this time next month.

The report will go to the state legislature which commissioned the $58,000 APA study following a major scandal at Greystone Park Hospital in Parsippany.

One of the report's recommendations is expected to be the creation of a separate Department of Mental Health headed by a commissioner responsible to the governor.

That move has long been urged by the N.J. Mental Health Association and was recommended by many of these testifying at the hearings the APA held throughout the state last Spring.

The Division of Mental Health now is part of the Department of Institutions and Agencies.

Budget Up For Hudson

HIGHLANDS — Residents of Atlantic Highlands and this borough will have to raise $886,419 if they approve the Henry Hudson Regional Board of Education 1971-72 school budget.

The budget, at $1,158,495.25 is up $137,787.50, but the local tax levy was not known at the time of its introduction and tentative adoption Jan. 5.

The amount to be raised by taxes is up $109,990 from last year. The necessary raise in the tax rate is not yet known.

A public hearing on the budget is set for Wednesday at the regional school.

A breakdown of the budget shows current expense at $1,052,820, up $131,145; capital outlay is $23,900 an increase of $8,580 and debt service is $81,775.25, down $1,937.50.

Manalapan Officials To Address GOP

MANALAPAN — Mayor Thomas F. Whalen and representatives of the Planning Board, Board of Health and the Industrial Committee will address the Manalapan Republican Club tonight at Rossella's Grill, Rt. 527, at 9 p.m.

Mayor Whalen will speak on recent developments in the township, and his discussion is expected to include comments on the proposal to purchase the Pine Brook Sewer Co.

Club committee chairmen are also expected to be appointed at the meeting.

CYO MEETS TUESDAY
RED BANK — The Monmouth County Catholic Youth Organization will meet Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in St. James School. Discussed will be plans for the CYO Youth Conference next month.

How-Much-Is-A-Million Project Filmed

By FLORENCE BRUDER
FAIR HAVEN — Twenty-eight-year-old faces were aglow as little feet happily tripped over television wires and 44 bright eyes squinted in the glare of floodlights.

It was a big day for the third grade Knollwood School students of Mrs. Evelyn Rubin.

The question was "How much is a million?" ... and the boys and girls were near the answer.

Since Sept. 25, they've been counting and sorting split peas, and later this week they'll reach the grand total of a million.

"It all began," Mrs. Rubin said, "when I read a review in the N.Y. Times of a book called "One Million" by Hendrik Hertzberg, published by Simon & Schuster Inc.

Mr. Hertzberg utilized a million dots to reach the magic total. Mrs. Rubin noted her pupils ("not even myself") had no conception of how much a million of anything is.

Effort Failed
"So I sent the children home to figure out what we could use to count to a million with. I'd heard of another teacher who'd tried it, using bottle caps — there was no place to put the caps so she got fired."

The idea evolved of using peas. "I buy bags every time I go to the market," Mrs. Rubin said, "and the children donate some. All in all, it's cost about $30." As an English project, the youngsters wrote to Mr. Hertzberger about his book. Imagine their delight when the letter was answered.

It started out with an address to each child by name and went on "It sounds as if we both had the same idea, only I had it about dots and you had it about peas. The peas must fill up practically your whole classroom. (They don't; they're in neat cups, tins and bags.) I suppose you all have to sit on top of a huge pile of peas, so high you can reach up and touch the ceiling."

"I wonder what you will do with a million peas when you get them (more about that later) ... when you have collected one million peas, I hope you'll send me a picture." (They will.)

Excitement
To get back to the excitement of the television cameras in the classroom: NBC-TV heard about the project and, as part of their Advancements in Education program, sent an entire crew to the school to film the saga of the peas. The sequence is expected to be shown tonight on NBC-TV News (Channel 4) at 6 p.m.

Director, technicians, audio and visual experts crammed the corridors and room ... and the children loved it.

"We're going to be television stars," gasped Hope Emmons.

"Everybody will faint when we reach a million," grinned John Bruce.

"A million is a very lot," said Valerie Wolcott solemnly. But the program has concrete value; it's not a circus at all and little Dawn Moran summed up: "It's fun. It's a really good book but it gets me dizzy."

Mrs. Rubin isn't dizzy; she's genuinely delighted with the progress made since the project started nearly four months ago.

Involves All
"It's a teacher's dream," she commented, "because it involves every single child. They learn to use judgment with estimate amounts ... it's tremendously motivating and every child counts every day."

She pointed out that the careful counting is done in addition, of course, to regular class work.

"We count every free minute ... the children count by two's or twenties, according to their capabilities. They put the peas into paper cups at their desks and when they reach a certain total, pour them into cans and record the amount." Then they're lodged into plastic bags, neatly lined up along the window ledge.

The best counter, according to Mrs. Rubin and the other children, is David Bradshaw.

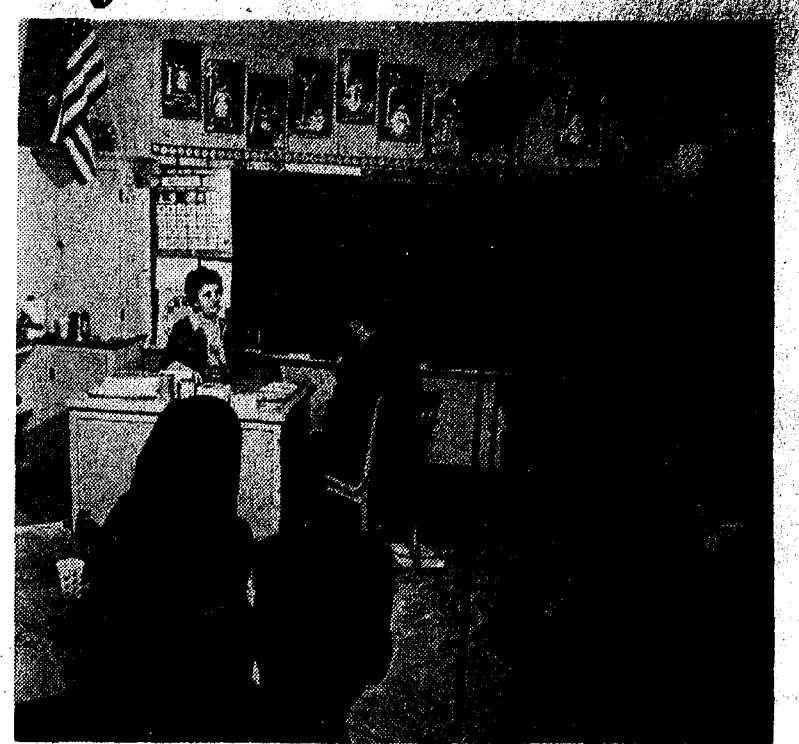

"Without him, it would have taken us much longer. David was sick for a week, and we voted — we're a very democratic class — to send his peas home and he did the work there. One of the rules had been that all counting must be done in the classroom."

And when they're finished, what then?

"Why, we're going to share our effort by exhibiting them in the school library."

"After that, we'll vote," Mrs. Rubin concluded. "Maybe we'll give them to some charitable institution."

At any rate, there should be lots of split pea soup in Monmouth County soon.

TV TIME — Mrs. Evelyn Rubin is interviewed by NBC-TV reporter in Knollwood School, Fair Haven, after television crew came there to do film sequence on arithmetic project being carried on by her class. Show is expected to be on Channel 4 news program tonight starting at 6 o'clock. (Register Staff Photo)

Ham Radio Links Lonely Servicemen With Families

By MARGOT SMITH
ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Maybe because he spent three years in a jungle prison camp during World War II, Will Willemse has a more empathetic feeling for sequestered servicemen than most of us.

When WB2NDH, his voice and ears in the wide world of radio amateurs, picked up a signal from a large U.S. ship in the Indian Ocean just before Christmas, Mr. Willemse began five days of concentrated relaying that linked lonely sailors with loved ones in the states.

On his desk at 66 Bay Ave., he has a "patch" phone hooked up to his powerful single sideband system. It provides what he calls "the large jump" between distant stations and any point that can be reached by telephone.

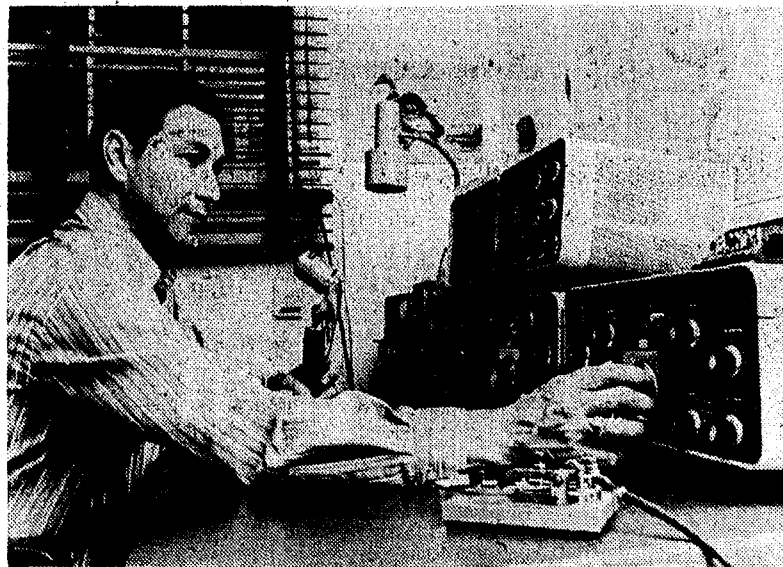

Servicemen who had been away from home over two years stood in line on a ship on the other side of the world, waiting to place "calls" through Mr. Willemse. He was able to complete nearly 40 of them.

"They would tell me in advance whom to reach and at what number, and we'd set a time for the contact." At that happy appointment, Mr. Willemse served as the relay, picking up and delivering greetings from ship to shore and back.

His wife, Erin, helped by placing telephone calls to points as far away as Texas, which was, at times, very time-consuming.

Two favorable factors enable WB2NDH to reach 200 nations around the world, communicating friendship and good deeds whenever possible. Only in the United States and Israel, he says, are phone patches permitted. In other countries, the telephone systems are owned by governments which forbid such hook-ups.

He calls his two-element cubical quad antenna, mounted on a 50-foot steel tower and set in seven feet of concrete, "The real requirement for global communications." In the beginning, neighbors complained about the structure, saying it interfered with television and radio reception. After they learned that in many cases, the trouble was not with Will's equipment, and that he is willing to furnish filters whenever it is, there were no more complaints. At times, he has further served as a good neighbor by helping to contact distant family members in times of disaster.

During the Celia hurricane in Texas, he ascertained the safety of friends of an Atlantic Highlands family.

On the wall of Mr. Willemse's office hangs a public service award from the American Radio Relay League, for efforts to locate a rare medicine that saved the life of a small boy in Milan, Italy.

Modest about the services he performs, he says that radio amateurs the world over stand ready to help whenever possible. "It's almost a competitive thing," he says, "with hams vying to be first to make the needed contacts."

Licensed in 1938, when he lived in the Dutch East Indies, he has also held licenses in Holland and Canada. During a 1953 flood in the Netherlands, he was flown to the disaster area by helicopter to establish radio communications.

Day-to-day hamming is mostly a matter of listening, he says. Sometimes the signals picked up offer an opportunity to do a service, and sometimes they add interesting contacts, verified by post cards sent from all over the world. Will's box of cards includes ones from King Hussein and his prime minister who are the only hams licensed in Jordan. He has talked with Barry Goldwater, an avid amateur.

Many of the distant contacts are with missionaries and others in lonely outposts, hungry for contact with the outer world. Mr. Willemse's knowledge of French, German, Spanish and Dutch are kept fluent this way. He has talked with a missionary in Nepal, and many in South America. Often, he says, they are concerned with books and supplies they have ordered, and he is able to ascertain, with the help of his patch phone, when they can be expected.

Radio amateurs promote a lot of good will and international understanding, too, he believes. His cards from amateurs in Siberia, Moscow, the Ukraine, all the continents and many ships at sea demonstrate a shrinking world.

Mr. Willemse is glued to his receiver during the early hours on weekends when he can best reach areas in different time zones. During the week, he is a branch chief with the Mallard project's Tri-Tech program. Being an electronics engineer, he found no difficulty assembling his own intricate and sophisticated setup for WB2NDH.

for 5½ years and has thus acquired tenure.

He says his "purported resignation and appointment was a nullity and a sham and violates both the letter and the spirit of the tenure laws."

"On May 18, 1970, I had served the borough four years, 11 months and 18 days ... and was only 12 days short of obtaining statutory tenure. However, I was promised by the Borough Council that if I ostensibly waived tenure, I would be reappointed for as long as I was willing and able to serve, not to exceed the mandatory retirement age of 70 years ..."

Mr. Marion says his sole reason given for his dismissal was that it was in accordance with borough policy "heretofore established" that municipal employees be retired at age 65.

"There never has been such a policy in the Borough of Keansburg. In fact, we currently have five people including myself over the age of 65 who are employed by the borough ... a library staff member, a sewer plant operator, the tax assessor and the recreation leader."

Mr. Marion says his abrupt termination will cause great confusion and irreparable harm. He is represented by Stanley Yacker of Matawan.

McAfee Is Named To GS-16 Post

FT. MONMOUTH — Appointment of Dr. Walter S. McAfee, South Belmar, as the Army Electronics Command's first scientific adviser to the deputy for laboratories was announced in Washington today by Gen. Henry A. Milley, Jr., commanding the Army Materiel Command.

In his new post, a super-grade GS-16, Dr. McAfee becomes the eighth ECOM employee in that job level, and the first Negro to attain super-grade status not only at Ft. Monmouth but in the entire Army Materiel Command, ECOM's parent organization. He will report directly to ECOM's deputy for laboratories, and will serve in a broad staff advisory capacity.

Dr. McAfee, Maj. Gen. Walter E. Lotz Jr., commanding ECOM and Ft. Monmouth, Dr. Robert S. Wiseman, deputy for laboratories, and Dr. Hans K. Ziegler, chief scientist, went to Washington for the promotion ceremony.

Dr. McAfee, an astro-physicist, joined the Signal Corps Laboratories, forerunner of the current ECOM organization, in May, 1942. He has been senior scientist in the Electro-Optics Technical Area of the Combat Surveillance, Target Acquisition and Systems Integration Laboratory. His career here has spanned more than a quarter-century in electronic research and development, ranging from participation in man's first contact with the moon in 1946, for which he provided the theoretical calculations, to advanced studies in quantum optics and laser holography, the fields in which he has recently engaged.

A native of Texas, Dr. McAfee received his baccalaureate degree in mathematics, magna cum laude, from Wiley College, Marshall, Tex., in 1934, and his M.S. at Ohio State University, Columbus, in 1937. He married the former Viola Winston of Columbus, and they have two daughters, Diane, 28, and Marsha, 25, both teachers.

Group Seeks Space For Ecology Center

SHREWSBURY — A steering committee, continuing its search for a storefront in Red Bank to use as an Eco-Center, met for the second time in the Eastern Branch of the Monmouth County Library.

Ten local organizations were represented, among them the County's Junior League, National Council of Jewish Women, Citizens for Water Pollution, American Association of University Women, Planned Parenthood, League of Women Voters, Rumson Conservation Commission and Hadassah.

Chairmen of the committee are Mrs. Edwin Behr 3rd, research chairman of the Junior League, and Mrs. Martin Rosenfeld, president of NCJW. Although not yet incorporated, the group is interested in opening a center in the Red Bank area where ecological information of all kinds would be available upon request.

Suggested originally by Derickson Bennett, conservation director of the American Littoral Society, and Jack Pearce, marine biologist at Sandy Hook, the center would also be a source of supply for films, speakers and library material.

The committee hopes to stage a public meeting in February, hoping to draw a broader base of organizations interested in pollution and conservation.

Three committees are working to answer some problems. Mrs. Gordon Litwin, Little Silver, and Mrs. Leonard Pamm, Colts Neck, make up the legal committee, researching the incorporation of the group.

Mrs. A.C. Thompson, Fair Haven, and Mrs. James Weil, Rumson, will continue their search for a store or storefront to open the center.

Mrs. Phillip Auerbach, Fair Haven, Mrs. D.C. Gahn, Rumson, Mrs. W.C. Rosser, Holmdel, and Mrs. William Sullivan Jr., Allenhurst, are compiling a list of county organizations to add to those which have already shown an interest in helping to organize this group.

Mrs. Behr said they hope to see a larger crowd at the next meeting, when they will try to have well known speakers involved in state, county and local conservation organizations.

Freehold Township Studies Year-Around School Plan

By GLADYS RIPS
FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — School officials here are looking into a plan for year-around school attendance that they hope would break the present pattern of having to build a new elementary school every year.

The discussion under way is based on an account of another growing school district's experience with the "Valley View 45-15 Continuous School Plan" that has been in effect since last June in Romeoville, Ill.

The report being read by the superintendent of schools, Marshall W. Erickson, and school board members here was written by Robert Beckwith, manager of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce Education Department.

The Romeoville plan was put into effect with federal Title III funds after about two years of study and discussion between the school board, administration, staff and the community.

Nine-Week Sessions
All kindergarten through eighth grade pupils in Romeoville attend school for 45 school day sessions (or nine weeks) followed by 15 vacation days (or three weeks) around the calendar year.

The student body is divided into four groups so that members of the same family and neighborhood are either in school or on vacation at the same time. The schedule is staggered with one group starting school 15 days after another has begun. Three quarters of the students are always in school while the other quarter is on vacation.

Except for legal holidays, Christmas and spring vacations, and two weeks at the end of June and the beginning of July, when school is closed for major maintenance, school is in continuous session throughout the year. The Romeoville school district worked out a five-year schedule according to the plan with a total of 180 school days a year for each child.

The most immediate and obvious gain, Mr. Beckwith's report indicates, was greater efficiency in the use of school buildings with subsequent savings in construction and operational costs. The neighborhood-based groupings reduced the area to be covered by school buses.

However, the report warns, because of general inflation, the plan cannot be expected to result in immediate financial savings. But after awhile, it could reduce the rate of school tax increases and avoid the cost of additional bonds for construction of more classrooms.

More Flexibility
From an educational point of view, the report and board members here noted that the 45-15 Plan provides greater flexibility, which could allow for an enriched curriculum. Slow students could repeat a session without having to lose a whole year, and the converse would be true for those who can move ahead.

School officials here seem to be favorably impressed by the plan. Introducing the idea to the Board of Education, Mr. Erickson said it was the first plan he read of this kind that sounded applicable to the local situation. "They sound like us," he said of the Romeoville district.

At the same time, he warned that a great deal of study would have to precede any decision to introduce a 45-15 Plan, especially from the point of view of educational benefits.

As a first step, the township Board of Education has formed a committee to study the plan, including board president Hugh Oakley, and members Michael Dotsey, Harold A. Wells, Mrs. Shirley Schweser and Lewis Goslin.

Mayor Launches Full Probe Of State Drug Center Plan

LONG BRANCH — Although Mayor Henry R. Cioffi is in Florida, he has set the works in motion here for a complete probe of a state plan to initiate a teenage drug users' rehabilitation center in the former Star of the Sea Academy.

The mayor sent telegrams Friday to City Attorney Robert Mauro and Zoning Board Attorney Irving Teicher. He directed Mr. Mauro to research the legal aspects of using the former school as a drug center. He also asked Mr. Teicher to research the issue and report on zoning restrictions on the proposed use.

Vincent J. Mazza, city business administrator and acting mayor in Mr. Cioffi's absence, said yesterday that he called the office of Gov. William T.

Cahill Friday to discuss the state's plan. He said the governor was also reported to be out of the state at that time.

Mr. Mazza has also directed Harry Wilson, city building inspector, to report on the zoning aspects of the plan and to conduct an inspection of the planned facility to determine its housing capacity and structural soundness.

When Gov. Cahill announced that the state had purchased the school last Monday, it was said the facility would house about 200 boys and girls between 12 and 20 years of age. Later last week, however, it was said the plan was revised to rehabilitate and educate about 100 youthful drug users.

Mayor Cioffi Tuesday called on city residents to make a careful analysis of the plan.

Thomas Flynn, the governor's press secretary, last week said the youthful drug users would not be "hardened addicts." He said they would be "teenagers who have strayed and whom we are trying to help before they get into serious trouble."

Police Capt. Welsh, 46, Of Oceanport

OCEANPORT — John T. Welsh, 46, of 7 Maple Place died yesterday in Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch.

Mr. Welsh was born in Middletown and had been a resident of this community for the past 24 years. He had been a member of the Oceanport Police Department for the past 24 and one half years.

He was a charter member and former captain of the Oceanport First Aid Squad; a member of the Oceanport Hook and Ladder Company; a charter member of the Oceanport Lions Club; and a Veteran of World War II. He was also attendance officer for Oceanport Schools and the Shore Regional High School, West Long Branch. He was a member of P.B.A. Local 141.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Marie, nee Halleran Welsh; a son, John J. Welsh and a daughter, Miss Arlene Welsh, both at home; his father, Thomas Welsh of Middletown; four brothers, Michael, Bernard, William and James Welch, all of Middletown; two sisters, Mrs. Owen McDermott of Brooklyn, N.Y. and Mrs. Arthur Thorstensen of Belford.

Arrangements are under the direction of the John E. Day Funeral Home, Red Bank.

Keansburg Clerk Sues To Void His Dismissal

FREEHOLD — Harvey Marion, whose dismissal as Keansburg's borough clerk was effective Friday, has filed a complaint here against Keansburg, claiming that its Borough Council tricked him into placing his job in jeopardy.

Keansburg officials have been ordered to show cause Jan. 29 why they should not be restrained from dismissing the 65-year-old Mr. Marion.

Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill, who signed the show-cause order Friday, declined to issue a temporary restraint sought by Mr. Marion pending the hearing.

Mr. Marion, who claims he was "fraudulently induced" to waive his statutory right of tenure last May, lists this sequence of events in his complaint and in an accompanying affidavit:

On May 1 Mayor Harry Graham asked him to resign. Mr. Marion refused. At a council workshop meeting May 18, the borough attorney produced a resolution calling for Mr. Marion's resignation as borough clerk and immediately reappointing him as "temporary borough clerk."

Mr. Marion says he objected to the word "temporary" and to three other conditions, restricting his reappointment to the less than six months remaining before his 65th birthday; requiring that he submit a signed resignation from his new appointment, to be held in escrow by the council, and expressly waiving any statutory tenure rights. These three conditions and the word "temporary" were deleted from the council's final resolution, states Mr. Marion.

He says he was told his proposed resignation and immediate reappointment was "for the purpose of informing the public that the borough clerk did not need to rely upon tenure to remain in his position but ... could rely upon his meritorious service ..."

Mr. Marion resigned at a meeting May 20 — 10 days before he would have acquired tenure — and was reappointed at an adjourned meeting May 25.

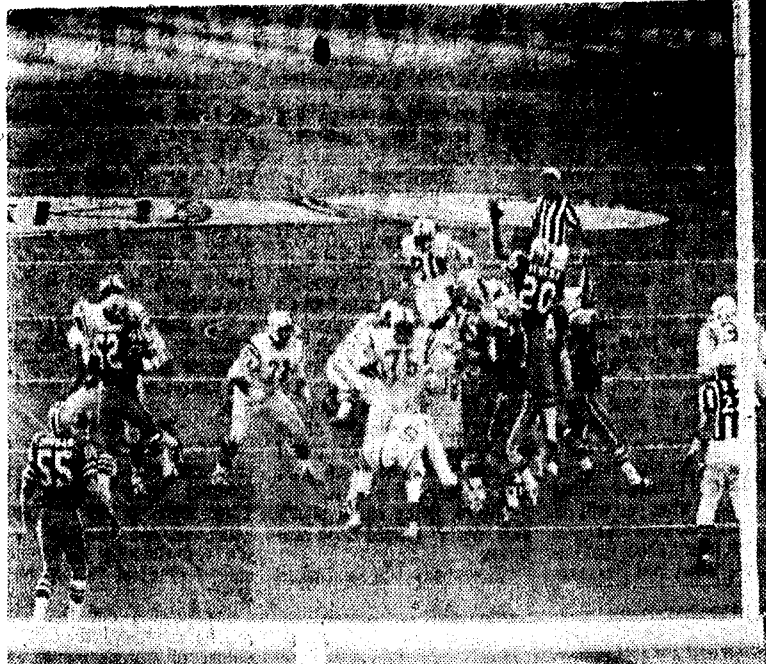

In mid-December, says Mr. Marion, Mayor Graham again asked him to resign. "Plaintiff refused, whereupon he read in a local newspaper, dated Jan. 6, 1971, that he would be dismissed that evening." At the Jan. 6 meeting the council dismissed him, effective Jan. 15.

State law provides that a municipal clerk receives tenure after five years of continuous service, says Mr. Marion, and, except for his "purported resignation" he has held office as borough clerk

Colts Boot Cowboys Out of Super Saddle, 16-13

MIAMI (AP) — Rookie Jim O'Brien, steadied by onetime Super Goat Earl Morrall, kicked a 32-yard field goal with five seconds remaining yesterday that brought the Baltimore Colts a 16-13 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in the most tense and most bizarre game in the short five-year history of the Super Bowl.

As O'Brien trotted onto the field with nine seconds showing on the clock the 36-year-old Morrall — the much-abused goat of the loss to the New York Jets in Super Bowl

II — took time to talk to the 22-year-old freshman from Cincinnati.

"Earl told me to kick it straight and through just as I always try to do," said O'Brien in the Colts dressing room as he searched for words to describe the incredible drama of the last seconds.

"You have to concentrate and can't worry," O'Brien explained. "I knew if I missed it there was still overtime."

And so O'Brien stepped back, swung his feet into the kick and split the uprights, bringing to an end the contest that seemed to be heading for its sudden death finish in Super Bowl history as the setting sun draped the artificial turf of the Orange Bowl in shadows.

"It was a good solid hit," O'Brien said, savoring it. "It was the only good one I had all day."

Units on Bench

It came at the end of 60 minutes of warfare in which the Colts went into the second half trailing, 13-6, and with quarterback Johnny Unitas sitting on the bench with battered ribs while the battle for the $15,000 winners, shares bore to its astonishing finish.

And it came with Morrall at the helm — the scorned quarterback of two years ago running the show when the Colts pulled into a tie on Tom Nowatzke's two-yard run. And it was Morrall holding the ball when O'Brien won it under the most intense circumstances in the history of pro football's No. 1 spectacle.

It left even Unitas happy, despite the pain from his battered ribs and the small role he played in the victory.

"I'm happy for Earl," Unitas said. "He did a fine job. I did not mind not going back in. That was the coach's decision. Earl was down in the dumps after our other Super Bowl. It was great he could come back."

But as much as Morrall and O'Brien contributed to the victory Super Bowl V also will be remembered for the opportunities that Dallas failed to convert.

"We beat ourselves," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "The fumbles and two interceptions killed us."

The last interception was the big one, middle linebacker Mike Curtis stealing a Craig Morton pass with just over one minute remaining after the Colts had turned the ball over to the Cowboys seven times through the fourth quarter.

Cowboys Lead, 13-6

The Cowboys built a 13-6 halftime lead on field goals of 14 and 30 yards by Mike Clark and Morton's seven-yard pass to Daune Thoma while Baltimore was able to counter only with Unitas' 75-yard touchdown pass to John Mackey on a pass that was tipped by a Dallas defender.

The Colts were continually turning the ball over and when the second half opened the same way with Jim Duncan fumbling the kickoff it seemed that once again Lady Luck was not to be on their side.

The two teams sparred through the first minutes of the half before Morrall hit Nowatzke with a 45-yard pass over the middle that brought the ball to the Dallas 15.

Nowatzke was clearly 10 yards in the open, but the plodding running back picked up as a free agent after he was let go by Detroit was pulled down from behind by Herb Adderley.

Two ground plays left it third-and-six, and then Morrall was intercepted in the end zone, by linebacker Chuck Howley.

The Cowboys again were unable to get rolling, and the Colts tried one more time. The clock was ticking against them at this point — and it was a time to pull out all stops.

So Morrall called for the "Flea Flicker." On the Flea Flicker, he hands off, then gets a return throw, and passes, presumably throwing the defense off. He had tried it in Super Bowl II — and missed an open receiver — and he had been the goat of that game from that moment on.

But he went to it again. He pitched to Sam Havrilak but when Havrilak looked to pitch back, Morrall had a Cowboy standing near him. Havrilak quickly righted himself, spotted Eddie Hinton breaking into the clear and hit him on the 20.

Hinton raced full speed toward the goal line and the tying touchdown, but was brought up short at the five on a jarring tackle by Cornell Green. Suddenly the ball spurred loose and, charged by a horde of players, rolled into the end zone — and out. It was a touchdown.

If the Colts had recovered, it would have been a touchdown.

But as it was it stood as only another mistake in a game-long series. Dallas had another big break. All the Cowboys had to do was hold on. But they couldn't.

PICK ON THE GOALIE, WILL YA? — Jerry Korab (22), center, Chicago Black Hawks' defenseman, lands a glove on the jaw of Ted Irvine (27), right, New York Rangers' left wing, after Irvine had started to fight with Chicago goalie Gerry Desjardins in the first period yesterday. Hawk defenseman Keith Magnuson (3) moves in on the action. Chicago scored a 4-3 come-from-behind victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Shaw Wins Crosby Title In Face of Palmer Charge

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Second," said a frustrated Arnold Palmer. "It seems to be the story of my life in recent years."

He'd just finished two strokes back of Tom Shaw in the $135,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament, marking the fourth time in less than 12 months that the game's all-time leading money winner had challenged — and failed.

But he was strangely optimistic after failing to sustain a charge that once carried him into the lead.

"Actually, I played good," he said. "My putting wasn't that good, but it wasn't that bad. I just couldn't get it in the hole."

Palmer finished with a 71 for 280 over the 6,777-yard, par-72 Pebble Beach golf links. The 28-year-old Shaw, battling his way out of a year-long slump, bogeyed the last two holes and had a 70 for 278. He held a four-stroke lead most of the warm, sunny day.

Gains Lead

Palmer, who hasn't won since December 1969, moved into the lead when he chipped in for an eagle three on the par-5 second.

Shaw quickly caught him, however, and the turning point came on the 160-yard, par-3 fifth.

Palmer three-putted from 25 feet.

"It was a very expensive three-putt," Palmer said. "It took away just enough confidence in my putting to make it the way it was the rest of the day. I'd just made a 20-footer on the hole before, was three under for the day and it looked like I had something going, had some confidence."

"Then I three-putt."

It was the first of four Palmer bogeys that allowed Shaw to breeze home.

Murphy Drives

Bob Murphy closed up with a 69 on the 6,777-yard Pebble Beach links and took third at 282. Jerry Heard, 67, and Tom Weiskopf, 72, followed at 284 with Bobby Nichols, 74 and Howie Johnson, 75, tied at 285.

Jack Nicklaus couldn't get anything going and took a fat 76 for 292. U.S. Open Champion Tony Jacklin had also a 76 for 296 and Masters titleholder Billy Casper took a 71 for 290.

Lee Trevino, the leading money winner last year, withdrew before the start of the round because of an illness in his family.

Shaw is a 28-year-old product of the University of Oregon who took in other players laundry to make ends meet when he first joined the pro tour in 1963.

He came into his own in 1968 with victories in the Doral and Avco events, triumphs that were slightly tarnished by weak finishes 40 on the back nine of each final day.

Then last year he lost his exempt status when he had a best finish of fifth and his money winnings fell more than $53,000.

Shaw led Palmer by only a single stroke starting play under the bright, warm sun that sent temperatures to 82, a record for this event usually plagued by foul weather.

Chips Eagle

Palmer brandished his wedge aloft in the old victory salute when he holed out the eagle chip on the second hole and he also birdied the fourth.

But he was shaking his head in weary dismay the rest of the way home.

Shaw, playing in the group just behind Palmer, regained a share of the lead just moments after Palmer's eagle when he used two drivers to reach the green on the 497-yard hole and two-putted for a birdie. It was the first of three consecutive birds and he notched his fourth on the par-5 sixth.

When Palmer slipped back on four bogeys, Shaw had a four-stroke lead and breezed home to his third tour victory. He bogeyed the final two holes, from a trap on 17 and three-putting the 18th.

Bruins Rap Toronto As Rangers Falter

By The Associated Press

Look out National Hockey League record book. Here come the Boston Bruins.

The rambunctious Stanley Cup champions steamed into the NHL's mid-season All Star break seemingly intent on rewriting a host of scoring records.

The Bruins walloped Toronto 9-1 yesterday with Johnny Bucyk, Ken Hodge and Don Marcotte each scoring two goals. That gave Boston 215 goals in 44 games, an incredible average of almost five per game.

Esposito Leads

Scoring leader Phil Esposito connected for his 42nd goal and added two assists for 87 points, an average of almost two points per game. At that rate, he'll total 156 points — 30 more than the NHL record he set two years ago. And he is only 16 goals away of Bobby Hull's single season goal scoring mark of 59.

The victory gave the Bruins a three-point lead over New York in the East Division race. The Rangers dropped a 4-3 decision to Chicago.

Elsewhere yesterday Buffalo battled Montreal to a 4-4 tie, Minnesota blanked Detroit 2-0, Los Angeles whipped Philadelphia 4-1 and Vancouver dropped California 3-1.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis shaded Chicago 3-2, Philadelphia topped Detroit 4-2, Pittsburgh nipped Vancouver 4-3, Buffalo took Minnesota 4-3, Montreal stopped Boston 4-2 and Toronto battered Los Angeles 8-1.

The powerful Bruins lost all star Johnny McKenzie with a left shoulder separation in the first period but it hardly mattered. Marcotte stepped in and scored two goals as Boston showered Toronto goalie Bruce Gamble with 54 shots. Bucyk and Hodge each increased their season's goal totals to 27 with their two apiece.

Eddie Westfall was named to replace McKenzie in tomorrow's All-Star Game, keeping Boston's representation at six players.

Jump in Front

New York jumped in front of Chicago with a trio of first period goals in the nationally televised game but the Hawks bounced back.

After Stan Mikita got the Hawks on the scoreboard in the first period, Bobby Hull and Gerry Pinder tied the score in the second. Then, with just over three minutes left, Bill White's screened 50-footer won it for Chicago. The victory opened an 11-point lead for Chicago over St. Louis in the West race.

The Mahovich brothers, Frank and Pete, scored the Canadiens' other goals while Steve Atkinson, Don Marshall and Floy Smith hit for the Sabres.

Cesare Maniago kicked out 31 Detroit shots and Minnesota blanked the Red Wings. Tommy Williams and Danny Grant scored the North Star goals, Grant after hopping onto the ice as the extra attacker on a delayed penalty against the Wings.

Nets Overtake Cougars for Third Spot

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The New York Nets scored the last eight points in the game to whip the Carolina Cougars, 120-112, last night to gain sole possession of third place in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association.

Carolina fell to fourth place, one game behind the Nets.

The Cougars scored seven straight points late in the fourth period to tie the game at 112, but the Nets regained the lead they had held until then.

Manny Leaks, the recently acquired forward, who did not start for New York, led all scorers with 29 points, Rick Barry added 19 and Bill Paulitz 17 for the Nets.

Joe Caldwell was high for Carolina with 28 points followed by George Lehmann with 20.

Gilzenberg Charges WBA's 'Bad Faith'

NEWARK (AP) — Promoter Willie Gilzenberg yesterday accused the World Boxing Association of bad faith in negotiations for a title defense by light heavyweight boxing champion Bob Foster.

"It seems the WBA and two challengers are in collusion," said Gilzenberg. "Foster is willing to fight and has not demanded a guaranteed purse."

Got Go-Ahead

Gilzenberg was given the go-ahead last Monday by Lou Fiscusi, Foster's manager, to negotiate for a fight between Foster and Jimmy Dupree of Jersey City, the No. 1 contender. However, Dupree informed the New Jersey Athletic Commission that he has signed to fight Vincente Rondon for the WBA title Feb. 20 at Caracas, Venezuela. The WBA withdrew recognition of Foster's title in December for failing to defend "in an appropriate length of time" against Dupree.

Gilzenberg insisted that Foster was given 90 days to defend his light heavyweight crown and that the tolling of the time period started Nov. 16, the day that Foster unsuccessfully fought for the heavyweight title against Joe Frazier.

"The way I figure it," said Gilzenberg, "the 90 days don't end until Feb. 16."

Gilzenberg said Foster would settle for a championship percentage rather than a flat guarantee. He said Foster would agree to terms for 40 per cent of the gate receipts and the challenger 20 per cent. Gilzenberg said a fight between Dupree and Rondon would be a fight for a title that doesn't exist.

State of Confusion?

The Newark promoter said if the WBA recognizes the Dupree-Rondon winner as champion he would move to set up a match in a state not affiliated with the WBA.

"This would be for the true championship," Gilzenberg said.

The promoter said he would first contact the manager of Horace Hal Carroll of Syracuse, N.Y., ranked eighth by the WBA.

Gilzenberg said the Washington Coliseum is available for Feb. 8 and that other possible sites for a February fight include the Atlantic City Convention Hall, the Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum, both available Feb. 8-13, or the Houston, Tex., Astrodome.

Gilzenberg said Dupree had been clamoring for a fight against Foster and now that he has been given the opportunity the challenger has backed out.

Shore Conference Cagers Heading into Second Half

The battle for positions got a little hotter in the Shore Conference over the weekend as the basketball schedule moved to the halfway mark.

Neptune halted Brick Township, 62-44, to take sole possession of first place in the "A" Division, and Keyport tied Henry Hudson Regional for the "D" lead with a 71-70 verdict over Wall Township on Friday night.

Admirals Falling
On Saturday, the Admirals dropped a 66-56 decision to Shore Regional and allowed Keyport to tie for the lead.

In other Friday games, Toms River South defeated erratic Monmouth Regional, 68-48, in a "B" meeting.

In the only other "D" game, Point Pleasant Beach got by Bob Stainton and Keansburg, 67-62.

Rumson-Fair Haven Regional just outpointed Garden State Conference foe, Highland Park, 55-54.

Weekend School Roundup

In other cage action, Long Branch downed Red Bank Catholic, 66-55; Christian Brothers Academy rolled over Mater Dei, 69-51; Croydon Hall Academy dropped a 77-63 verdict to Rutgers Prep; Manasquan stopped Point Pleasant Borough, 67-52, and Jackson Township beat St. Joseph's of Toms River, 65-61.

In the other two Saturday games, Ocean Township took a one-game margin for first place in the "B" Division with an easy 62-43 victory over Asbury Park.

In an "A" game, Raritan bagged Matawan Regional, 65-46.

Neptune came up with 22 points, and held Brick to just two in the fourth period to defeat the Green Dragons.

Mike Edwards was the big gun for the winners with 25 points, while Gary Sergio and Ed Hayes each canned 12.

Keyport waited until the final seconds before scoring the last two points on foul shots by Mike Quinn.

The victory was the eighth straight for Keyport.

Wall had five technical fouls in the last minute of play. As the game became closer, tempers flared, but the Knights seemed the most angry.

Rich Flynn did the most damage for the Raiders with 22 markers, while Keith Orr and Quinn accounted for 20 and 11 respectively.

Toms River overcame a 12-11 first-period lead by Mohndown Regional, and then steadily pulled away.

Dave McCallum led the victors with 20 points. Bruce Gerrity accounted for 13 Falcon points. Barry Horowitz scored 12.

Bob Stainton's 32 points couldn't turn the tide for Keansburg. Point Beach, led by Mark Metzger's 22 points, had four men in double figures.

After Beach took a 17-9 lead at the end of the first period, the Titans fought back in the remaining three quarters, but couldn't overcome the margin.

Croydon Hall's Les Hendricks and Norm Caldwell accounted for 51 Cardinal points, but it still wasn't enough to cope with Rutgers Prep. The winners had Ray Miklos with 35 points, and three other men in double figures to boost them over the Cards.

Colt Leaders

Ray Kelly and Billy Koch scored 23 and 16 points respectively to handle Mater Dei.

It was the Colts' 11th victory against one loss. Mater Dei is now 3-10.

Charlie Evans, Kevin Baker and Craig Cofer scored almost all of the Long Branch points in its triumph over Red Bank Catholic. Evans canned 18 points, while Cofer and Baker each had 17.

The Wave held RBC's top shooter Mike Bobiak to six points in preserving the victory.

Palvin Williams led the way for Rumson-Fair Haven in its squeaker over Highland Park.

Williams, who scored 20 points, was followed by teammate Bob Trotter at 13, and Junie Crichlow with 10.

It was Williams' basket with 20 seconds left in the game that made the difference.

Williams, a sophomore, also grabbed 16 rebounds in the game.

Ocean's takeover of first place was ignited by Mark Hlatky who led both teams with 18 points. Hlatky had just eight points before the fourth period began.

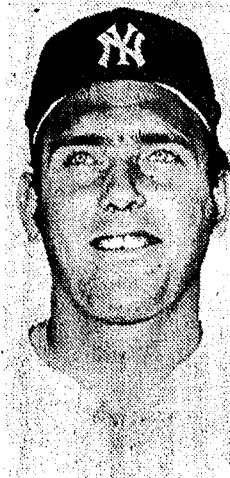

The Bishops were able to close the gap to 34-31 at the end of the third period, but the Spartans pulled out to a 41-31 advantage just before the period closed.

Bob Decker was a key figure in destroying Matawan for Raritan.

Decker's 26 points, and 16 conversion for 17 attempts at the foul line did the Huskies in.

Henry Hudson went into the lockerroom at the half with a 30-28 lead, but the Shore Blue Devils came on strong in the third stanza to go in front by two points.

The fourth period saw the winners drive away by outscoring the Admirals, 16-9.

MYAA Kids To Register, Hear Blefary

MIDDLETOWN — New York Yankee outfielder Curt Blefary, a former resident of New Shrewsbury, will be guest speaker next Sunday at 7 p.m. when the Middletown Youth Athletic Association opens its baseball season with its annual parent and son registration night at Middletown Township High School.

Boys 8-18 are eligible to register for one of the several MYAA leagues. Last year the organization sponsored 123 baseball leagues.

Boys 8-12 participate in the nationally affiliated Little League program, those 13-15 in the Babe Ruth league and 16-18 in the Shore area's Ed Carleton Memorial League.

Registrations are available in all township schools. Boys must be eight as of July 31 of this year and no older than 18 on the same date to be eligible.

In addition to Blefary's appearance and an autographing session, two new baseball films, one of which is the highly-recommended "Bulpen", will be shown.

Each boy attending with his parent must bring his signed registration form.

The MYAA Little League serves all boys in the township except Lincroft residents who must register with the Lincroft Little League. Boys who reside in Atlantic Highlands and Highlands are eligible to play in the MYAA Babe Ruth League only.

Charles Fallon is registration night chairman, appointed by MYAA president Phil DeMarco.

St. Agnes' Cagers Win

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — St. Agnes of Atlantic Highlands won its ninth straight Monmouth County CYO game here Thursday night by defeating St. James of Red Bank, 59-57.

St. Agnes, the first-place team in the Northern Division, had to overcome a 33-31 St. James lead at the half.

St. James, now tied with St. Leo of Lincroft for the lead in the Southern Division, is now 7-2 for the season.

Tom Errington's two foul shots with 32 seconds left in the game, won the contest for St. Agnes.

Kevin Beirne canned 30 points for the winners, while Errington hit for 12.

Joe Wesel was high for the losers with 21 points, followed by Tom Layton at 18.

Medi-car.

We haven't put in piped-in music and potted palms to help fill you into buying a new car.

But we have put in a special diagnostic system to help keep your car running like new long after you buy it.

The VW-diagnosis System: Medi-car.

When you buy a new Volkswagen, you get a series of 4 free check-ups where we use our diagnostic equipment to check out just about everything that can affect your car's health.

Our equipment can see things no human eyes can. So it can actually spot problems before they can become real problems.

Take the electrical console above.

In seconds, it can tell us if the resistance in your spark plug wiring is too high, or if the dwell angle of your contact points is too large.

Unchecked, either of these could cut gas mileage and engine life.

But the main point is: While our equipment would spot these problems before any damage is done, during a normal check-up no mechanic could.

Volkswagen Medi-car: It's a whole new way of life.

THE USED CAR BUYERS' GUIDE.

This car is guaranteed 100%.

Before we put any used car out on our used car lot, we give it a little test. A grueling 16-point inspection. Only if it can pass the inspection without faltering, do we award it our 100% Guarantee* sign. Which means if anything fails later on we guarantee you the free repair or replacement of every major working part for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first. If you're ever worried about buying a used car again, just let our Guarantee be your guide.

Stockham Still Heads Economic Commission

MIDDLETOWN - S. Fred Stockham was reelected chairman at a reorganization meeting of the Economic Development Commission Monday.

Paul Bova, a veteran commissioner, was named vice chairman. Mrs. Claire B. Norton, known to township residents as secretary to Police Chief Joseph M. McCarthy, was appointed secretary to the commission, replacing Mrs. Edna Moon who has resigned.

Mr. Stockham reported that Township Committee member William C. Johnson Jr. will act as liaison officer between the commission and the governing body, replacing Committee member Edward P. Makely in that capacity.

"We're looking forward to great progress this year," the chairman predicted. The commission meeting night has been changed from the fourth to the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

This year's commissioners are, besides Mr. Stockham and Mr. Bova, Harold Copeland Sr., Lloyd Curtis Jr., Joseph Oliva, Ralph Peterson, Floyd Smith, Gary Kaplan, John Fritts and Roger Clapp.

TV Becomes Powerful Ally of Conservation

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—Television has come a long way since the days when Marlin Perkins used to stroll around the Lincoln Park Zoo, petting the animals and urging children at home to handle their own pets gently.

It has become a loud and powerful ally in the conservation movement, calling attention dramatically to disappearing, or endangered species and explaining in concrete and easily understood sequences the weaknesses and breaks in the vital ecological chain.

Over the weekend there were two such programs. On Friday night "Elephant Country" on NBC reported on the dwindling herds of Africa. On Saturday, "Arthur Godfrey's America: the Everglades" on ABC was concerned with that vast Florida swamp land. Despite a difference in subject matter and the fact the locations were thousands of miles apart, there were remarkable similarities and a sense of urgency.

Herd Decline Seen
"Elephant Country" with actor Cliff Robertson serving as narrator and participant in a camera hunt, told of the herds decreasing because of a year-long drought in the area and of so many animals crowding into Kruger National Park that the sanctuary was unable to feed them. Man was at the heart of the crisis, draining water from rivers vital to the herds, severing one big river with a dam thus permitting only a trickle in the water holes, and deliberately burning over acres for agriculture and driving out or killing the animals.

Man was also the villain in Godfrey's special, diverting water from the swamp to other uses, seeking to cut a canal across the state, draining and developing swamp lands into building sites.

His statistics were awesome: "When water covered the Everglades, there were 1 1/2 million birds here; now there are 50,000 birds left—one for every 300 before."

Awareness Boosted
Total effect of these nature programs — Jacques Cousteau's undersea series, Bill Burrud's "Animal World" and Perkins' "Wild Kingdom" — has to be important in the awareness of viewers to the problem.

Even "The American Sportsman" has seen the light — or handwriting on the wall. It used to concentrate on the joys of the hunt and the gun. Once in a while it would explain briefly that this man-eating tiger was scaring villagers so a Hollywood star was invited to come over and shoot him. This year, the Hollywood stars are still fishing and hunting, but it is likely to be with tranquilizer bullets and with the aim of tagging the creatures rather than acquiring a head for the library wall.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—A swift-paced morning gives way to a leisurely afternoon during which you can reconsider your position and take stock of talents.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Pay special attention to detail this morning. Afternoon hours tend themselves to a leisurely pace; take advantage of them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Protect your own interests as friends move rapidly ahead toward goals of their own. Don't be misled by a smile.

Budget Talk Slated In Manalapan

MANALAPAN — A public hearing will be held Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. in the Clarks Mills School on the $4,068,853 school budget, up $506,275 over the previous year.

Howard J. Davison, secretary of the Manalapan-Englishtown Board of Education, attributed much of the increase to teachers salaries. He said that the board is still negotiating with the teachers over salary requests, and withheld further comment on the talks.

The current expense budget is $3,608,671, up $442,241; capital outlay is $56,800, down $61,041, and debt service is $393,382, up $125,075. Mr. Davison said that details of the budget would be released at the public hearing.

Offer Problem Solving Course

MATAWAN — Problem solving is among the new courses to be offered by the Matawan Student Enrichment Program, beginning Saturday morning, Jan. 30, in Lloyd Road School, Matawan Township.

Instructed by Daniel Skelton, a seventh grade teacher at the Matawan Avenue Middle School, the course will cover individual and group techniques used in making realistic decisions.

The enrichment program also features courses in arts, languages, music, science, drama, dance and Afro culture.

In person registration will be conducted tonight through Wednesday in Lloyd Road School.

2 Enter Pleas

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Walter H. Conklin has set Feb. 19 for sentencing of two men who pleaded guilty to unrelated charges.

Pasquale Spagnuolo, 105 Madison Ave., Red Bank, admitted the use of marijuana and hashish March 18 in Middletown.

Abdullah Penn, 239 Joline Ave., Long Branch, pleaded guilty to use of marijuana Jan. 17, 1970 in Matawan Township.

"Fastest Judge" Cited
MANILA (AP) — The Manila Times called Manual R. Pamaran the Philippines' "fastest judge" because he sentenced 65 persons to the electric chair in four years. Judge Pamaran's clerk said the Supreme Court had confirmed only two of the sentences and none had been carried out.

Court Orders City Fireman Reinstated, Charge Dropped

FREEHOLD — Long Branch fireman Alfred Fornicola, suspended from his job since May 23 on charges of conduct unbecoming a member of the uniformed Fire Department, is to be reinstated.

Superior Court Judge Francis X. Crahay ruled Friday that Mr. Fornicola should be reinstated "forthwith," that Long Branch be restrained from holding a departmental hearing for him and the charges to be dismissed.

Mr. Fornicola and another fireman, Robert Faye, were charged with permitting use of the West End Engine Co. 2 on May 18 for immoral purposes and with involvement with a 17-year-old West Long Branch girl in immoral acts that day.

A motion for reinstatement for Mr. Faye — who was fired June 23 — was delayed until a final hearing because he was a probationary fireman. Mr. Fornicola has tenure.

Judge Crahay ruled that Mr. Faye did not come under a statute that provides that a municipality must hold a hearing within 30 days from the date the charges are filed or the charges shall be dismissed and the employee returned to duty.

The two firemen, through their attorney, Lawrence D. Kantor of Keyport, had filed an order to show cause against Long Branch and its business administrator, Vincent Mazza, to have the charges dismissed and the city prevented from holding departmental hearings.

They maintained in their complaint that they, on numerous occasions, demanded they be reinstated but the city refused to do so.

City Attorney Robert L. Mauro maintained that Long Branch "sincerely and honestly attempted to conduct a hearing" June 19. He contended that the hearing had "commenced" that day because pleas were taken and motions were heard.

Mr. Mauro said the city adjourned the hearing because two witnesses it had subpoenaed said they would refuse to testify under the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Kantor agreed that the statute states the hearing must begin within 30 days from the date the charges are filed.

Judge Crahay agreed that the city "tried" to hold the hearing within the prescribed time but ruled that the entering of pleas was an arraignment and a forum for motions, not a hearing.

The statute allows little discretion, he said.

The two firemen did not waive their rights to the hearing within the time limit, continued the judge, noting that the firemen had urged the city to proceed with the hearing last June.

Hold Dillingham

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — Dillingham Corp., which I purchased 18 months ago at 26 1/2, is now trading at about 12. Since this stock has not recovered with the market, should I sell or is there a chance it will regain strength? — C. G.

A — Dillingham shares have moved up 32 per cent since bottoming out at 8 1/2 in August. By comparison, the market, as measured by Standard & Poor's 425 Industrials, bottomed in May and in the ensuing eight months has risen 34 per cent. The 12 cents a share earned in the third quarter of 1970 was not sufficient to offset earlier deficits; and for the nine months Dillingham reported a deficit of 5 cents a share. For the full year a good gain in operating revenues and a modest profit will probably be reported. Improvement has already been noted in some of the conditions which contributed to the red ink. Stepped-up construction activity already has brought to Dillingham $80 million in new contract awards. The company is currently working on 200 construction contracts with a total value of $800 million. The gradual recovery in the business climate as well as the more favorable interest rates now available on mortgages should be beneficial. Shares should be held for recovery.

title for risk. About the only risk I take now is purchasing a state lottery ticket. I'm well covered by insurance, savings and blue chip stocks and am interested in a small investment in Westcoast Production. How do you size up this company? — E. K.

A — Westcoast Production, with $21 million or $5.33 per share in working capital and 40 per cent owned by Westcoast Transmission, although risky, is an interesting vehicle for participating in the Canadian oil-gas industry. The Stanmore-Richdale lands, where Westcoast has proved-up sizeable reserves, will benefit from the Alberta Conservation Board's decision to add this area to Trans Canada Pipe Lines' natural gas supply source. Wildcat activities on company's shared Graham Island Arctic holdings, which will begin this year, could benefit shareholders.

Hazlet Planners Reelect Green

HAZLET — Harry Greene has been reelected to a second year as chairman of the Planning Board.

Leo Stuchkus was named vice-chairman and Sheldon Israel was elected secretary of the board.

Mr. Stuchkus was chosen to head the important subdivision committee, on which John Costigan, Eugene Dombrowski, George Paterson and Mr. Greene will also serve. The master plan enactment committee will be headed by Mr. Costigan, with Mr. Israel, Mr. Dombrowski and Fred Turner as committee members.

The board recommended to the Zoning Board of Adjustment denial of an application by Elizabeth Barley and Carole C. Bartasik to refurbish a service station on Rt. 36.

The planners maintained the frontage is inadequate, an existing pump island is too close to the highway and the oversized lot would defeat the purposes of the master and zoning plans.

The board approved another application for restoration of a service station on Middle Road opposite the North Centerville Fire Company. Chevron Oil Company will construct a modern facility on the site.

lar action by the Holmdel Planning Board.

The rear portion of the lot lies in Holmdel. Last year the firm sought subdivision of the property in order to build a Burger King Restaurant. The application was denied because of resulting irregularly-shaped lots.

The board reserved decision on a major subdivision sought by the S.J.R. Construction Company to create five lots on Middle Road across from Bromley Drive.

During a public hearing last night, there were no objections to the subdivision, which is immediately adjacent to Flat Creek.

To Mrs. Raine Hazlet Post

HAZLET — Mrs. Vincent Raine was elected chairman of the local Assistance Board at the organization meeting.

Mrs. Willard Warren was named vice-chairman and Mrs. John Nicoll is secretary. William Bourbeau is the Township Committee liaison member and a new appointee to the board is William Cummings.

The board's new welfare director is Mrs. Henrietta Smith, who assumed the post late last year from O. John Reed.

The board will meet the first Monday of each month.

Annulments Climb

ROME (AP) — Judges suspended the driving licenses of 20,000 Italian motorists in 1970, a decrease of 8 per cent from the previous year, the government announced. Italy has about 13 million licensed drivers.

Son Inherits Estate Of Justice Ackerson

FREEHOLD — Justice Henry E. Ackerson Jr., retired New Jersey Supreme Court justice, who died Dec. 9, left the bulk of his estate in trust for his son, Cornelius Ackerson.

Justice Ackerson, 90, was a lifelong Monmouth County resident and had a long and distinguished career as a lawyer and jurist. He had resided in Keyport.

In his will which was probated yesterday in the office of county Surrogate Louis R. Aikins, he directed that his entire law library except for one set of "Skills and Methods" be given to Rutgers University law school.

He also left $2,000 to his grandson, Henry E. Ackerson 3d.

Justice Ackerson was admitted to the New Jersey Bar in 1904 and began his political career in 1914 when he was appointed to the Monmouth County Board of Freeholders where he served until 1921.

He successfully ran for the state Senate and, in 1919, was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1924 and, in 1948, was chosen by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll to fill a place on the newly-formed Supreme Court. He served until his retirement in 1952.

His will was dated Nov. 24, 1967.
